President In Favor Of Swick-Johnson Bill For World War Vets Pensions

WILL VETO RANKIN BILL ALREADY PASSED

Believed That House Will Vote To Sustain Veto Of President

WASHINGTON, June 26.—With the fate of relief legislation for World War veterans hanging in the balance, the full power of the Hoover administration was thrown into action today in an effort to kill the Rankin Bill already passed by congress.

President Hoover himself was to open the fight with a veto message denouncing the Rankin bill as unjust and forerunner of a treasury deficit.

The house, overwhelmingly Republican, was to be called upon to sustain the presidential veto, with Republican leaders claiming enough pledges to lead the measure.

To Pass Swick Bill

The next scheduled step was passage of the Swick-Johnson substitute measure invoking the pension system for World War veterans for the first time.

The administration was confident the house Republican machine, although hit by defections, would accomplish the President's purpose, thus transferring the fight to the senate.

Party lines were divided, members

PA NEW OBSERVES

The weather last night was even too warm for a certain street car operator. Young Pa Newc noticed an operator stop his car for a few minutes to purchase an ice cream cone.

Volley ball appears to be becoming a popular sport among South Siders. A net has been erected near Phillips St. and daily volleyball games are being played.

Although it has been mentioned at numerous times of late, Pa Newc is going to mention it again—the biggest need in the way of state highway improvements in this section at the present time is a new bridge over the Mahoning river near Hickory creek, just below the city. The planks in the flooring of this narrow bridge are loose and Pa Newc noted last night that there was part of a plank in the flooring entirely missing.

While hay harvest is on in earnest in Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, it isn't much like the hay harvest of old. Over across the border in Eastern Ohio yesterday, it was noted that on no farm where hay harvest was in progress were any horses being used. Trucks and tractors were furnishing the motive power for the harvesting work.

Salem, Ohio, is evidently going to follow the lead of New Castle and have night football in the school stadium at that place. The field has been equipped with the necessary floodlights.

Not only are the baby Austins of the Butler plant being hauled overland in gigantic trucks, but other cars are being transported in the same manner Pa Newc notes. On one of the immense trucks, four brand new sedans of a standard make were noted yesterday. In fact, the good roads of Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio are largely being taken over by immense trucks carrying cargoes of various natures, it seems.

Making an auto trip of any great length these days is a succession of

FOLLOWED HER HERO'S COURSE

More interested in the dangerous transatlantic flight of Major Kingsford-Smith than anyone else was Mary Powell, above, who anxiously followed each bulletin of the air venture at a radio in her home at Melbourne, Australia, 12,000 miles away. For she is to marry the intrepid aviator in September when Kingsford-Smith has promised to forsake his treacherous exploits for the management of a commercial aviation company.

Fiancee Of Atlantic Flier Answers So Many Phone Calls Throat Becomes Sore

(International News Service)
LONDON, June 26.—Miss Mary Powell, pretty fiancée of Major Kingsford-Smith, latest trans-Atlantic hero, was forced to remain abed today as the result of a severe sore throat occasioned by answering countless telephone calls since her husband-to-be was successfully bridged the ocean, it was stated in an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Melbourne.

Miss Powell received a cablegram from Major Kingsford-Smith today, the dispatch stated. It read:

"Another stage done. Cheerio. Much Love."

The message was signed "Chilla". Miss Powell's pet name for her airman sweetheart.

Miss Powell was not worried by reports from Vancouver that Major Kingsford-Smith was planning to pilot a 16-passenger plane back across the Atlantic, then flying to Australia. "Don't worry," she said. "I won't let him do it. He must hurry back here for our wedding on the sixth of September."

New Sidewalks For Big Section Of East Side Now

East Washington street will see a lot of new sidewalk this summer, due to the laying of conduit by the American Telephone & Telegraph company. The conduit is being laid below the sidewalk on the east side of the street and for many blocks it has been necessary to tear up the present walks. They will be replaced at the expense of the company.

WILL ROGERS says:

CHICAGO, June 26.—That fellow Kingsford-Smith must be a real flyer, and he prepares his flight right. He paid a fine tribute to radio, and that gives a pretty good idea of what happened to some of those other poor fellows.

Old Doc Eekener with his aluminum hot dog is, I reckon, about the only sure fire way to cross that ocean either way any time.

Congress Swelters Due To Heat Wave—Senate Faces Special Session Call

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Battling for adjournment of congress by July 1 at the latest, administration leaders hoped to settle three controversies in the senate today over prohibition, Boulder Dam and Muscle Shoals.

The approaching adjournment, whether it comes July 1 or July 10, will benefit only the house, since the senate will be called into immediate special session for ratification of the London Naval Treaty. One group of Senators led by Moses (R) of N. H. and Johnson (R) of Cal., forwarded a "round robin" to the White House, asking President Hoover to postpone action on the treaty until next December. Another group, led by Vandenberg (R) of Mich., sent word to the executive that thirty senators were ready to stay and ratify the treaty. The President let it be known he would disregard the "round robin" and call the special session.

Expect Quick Decision

The prohibition row and the Boulder Dam dispute were linked to the $70,000,000 second deficiency appropriation bill. This measure will raise the government's operating expenses for the current year to the stupendous peace-time figure of $4,750,000.

Final Selection Will Probably Not Be Made For Several Months By Commission

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Mounting heat of the Washington summer was matched today by the increasing warmth of the opposition to the London Naval Treaty.

Ignoring the round-robin signed by more than a score of Senators pleading that consideration of the fact be put off until next November President Hoover has reiterated his determination that the Senate shall ratify "if it takes all summer."

The prompt response of the treaty opponents was the drafting of reservations which, if adopted, would vitiate some of the treaty's most important provisions.

Federal Troops In Mexico Quell Coup D'Etat Riot

(International News Service)
EL PASCO, Tex., June 26.—Federal troops today were rushed into the state of Chihuahua, Republic of Mexico, after a political coup d'etat by Manuel Prieto, gubernatorial aspirant, that resulted in the death of one person, the injury of two others, and the establishment of two captains in the province.

The defeated Prieto faction yesterday raided the government palace at Chihuahua city and assumed control of state affairs there when Governor Francisco Almada fled to Juarez, on the American border.

Gabriel Jimenez, chief of the Chihuahua state police was killed and two other officers were wounded in the battle.

Immediately following the coup, Manuel Jesus Estrada was named governor of the state by the victorious forces at Chihuahua city, while governor Almada, safe in the stronghold of his faction at Juarez, established his government there.

Both factions claimed to be in control today.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Major Charles Kingsford-Smith and his three gallant companions, who conquered the Atlantic although they fell short of their goal, New York, will be given a rousing reception when they make their belated arrival here late today from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland. They will be paraded in triumph up Broadway, amid swirls of ticker tape, the blare of bands and the roar of the crowd.

The reception will be reminiscent of New York's official greetings to other famous airmen, such as Lindbergh, Byrd and Chamberlain. The mayor's committee, headed by Grover A. Whalen, have extended special invitations to Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British Ambassador, and members of his staff to fly here from Washington in a plane supplied by the city. Many other dignitaries will be present.

City Of Chicago Fliers Hope To Repair Broken Gas Tank And Stay In Air

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, June 26.—With engine tank badly leaking, the endurance plane city of Chicago dived away today above Sky Harbor Airport on its fifteenth day of continuous flight.

The hazardous task of refueling the monoplane was successfully undertaken last night after the tank in the plane's left wing sprung a leak and had to be shut off.

At 3:40 a. m. today pilots John and Kenneth Hunter ended their 347th hour aloft. The two brothers at that hour had only twenty four more hours to fly to equal the present world's record set by the St. Louis Robin.

An attempt will be made to repair the damaged tank today when a fuel contact is made.

Expect Throng At High School Alumni Outing

Graduates Of New Castle High School To Gather At Cascade Friday

DINNER AND DANCE TO MARK PROGRAM

Those who refer to the New Castle High School as their Alma Mater—graduates of years long past and graduates of this year's classes—will gather at Cascade Park on Friday afternoon to participate in the 17th annual reunion of the New Castle High School Alumni association.

While park officials announce that special arrangements have been made for the day, officers of the alumni organization also made known that plans for the afternoon and evening program have been completed. Hundreds of former students, including many out-of-town guests are expected to attend.

Today's rain, it was said, will help to make the picnic grounds more suitable, providing Old Sol shines tomorrow. Doubt about the park was laid by the heavy rain at noon.

Classes have completed arrangements for their own group picnics tomorrow. They will meet in the grove with other groups for the joint picnic supper at 6:30. The outing will be a basket picnic affair, although coffee and cream will be furnished free by the association.

A departure from a custom long observed at previous alumni outings will be noted in tomorrow's program. While the annual election of officers and transaction of business has heretofore followed immediately after the dinner, it will not take place until shortly before the grand march at the pavilion at 9 o'clock.

Leading the grand march will be General Chairman Ralph M. Campbell, who has directed plans for the reunion this year. Dancing will follow the grand march, with music being furnished by one of the snappiest orchestras that could be engaged for the occasion.

Serving as aides to Mr. Campbell this year, as in past years, were representatives of the different graduating classes. Together with the officers they made up the general picnic committee.

Officers of the association this year, who will automatically retire immediately following the election of their successors tomorrow night are Howard M. Kirk, Jr., president; Clyde Whitaker, vice president; Mrs. Ruth McCaskey Crawford, secretary, and John Kennedy, treasurer.

It is probable that some of the sites offered will not meet the qualifications desired. They must be situated close to a town of 15,000 or more population; have an adequate water supply; and be on or near a railroad.

Pa Newc notices that the curb light on the corner of South Mill street and Long avenue is beginning to become loose. It wouldn't be a bad idea if this condition would be removed. In time it may collapse and cause an injury.

There was an unusual quality in the atmosphere on Wednesday evening that caused the smoke from the industries to hang low. The valley was dense with smoke most of the evening.

Besemer accomplished a lot of fast work in clearing away the storm debris. The town looks normal, despite the damage that was done.

There is a lot more home gardening being done this year than for several years. Numerous level plots of ground near the outskirts of the city are being cultivated on a near truck garden basis, it is noted.

Road between Besemer and Petersburg, a few miles across the Ohio border is being repaved, and a detour is necessary.

Cascade Park is the rage now. Pa Newc has already attended seven or eight picnics out there and is prepared for more invitations.

The entrance to East Brook would look oh, so much better if the frame bridge beside the new cement bridge was removed. The frame bridge was used while the new bridge was being constructed. But now, it is of no use whatever, in Pa Newc opinion. Let's tear it down boys—ready, set and go.

You're the JUDGE

Green was a city salesman, traveling around calling on his trade in a care he owned.

One day he parked the car in front of a store, while he walked into the store to speak to the manager.

They both stood in front of a window and chatted.

Suddenly Green perceived a man going toward his car, furtively look around, jump into the car just as furtively, and drive away.

Green jumped up, asked the prospect he was calling on to let him use his car, and both ran out, into the prospect's car and after the taker of Green's car.

When they were almost abreast of the car thief, Green called on him to stop. The thief didn't answer, but kept on going.

Green thereupon drew a revolver and shot the thief dead.

Green was brought to trial and he pleaded that he killed to avert larceny.

Wagner and Hart

The mushball teams held a practice session last night under the floodlights and reported that it was easy to see the ball. They looked very good, and of course they will look better tomorrow night when John "Hans" Wagner goes to the short-field post for the Tin Mill and Walter "Hub" Ha. goes to the catching job for the Lehigh team. These two old timers are going to show the boys a thing or two about the art of heaving mushball, and the fact that Wagner and Hart will play is worth two-bits, but still there are other attractions such as Leroy Norton and his Ben Franklin Junior High tumblers, the boys who performed so well at the recent spring football game, and Herbert S. Horton, will have his Boy Scouts out for their drills and axe slinging and various stunts, and Joe Replique will have the splendidly uniformed Senior High School band out in full regalia and rarin' to toot a lot of real music, and well you just can't miss the big night folks.

The show goes on Friday night unless there is a snowstorm, cloudbut. or earthquake. The men in charge of the benefit are getting in touch with the Weather Man today and if they can persuade him to send good weather, nice and warm and a lot of sunshine and stars and things Friday then everything is going to be lovely.

Good Umpires

As for umpires tomorrow night New Castle's Primo Carnera, none other than Charles "Horse" Gillum himself will be behind the plate calling balls and strikes, and Bob Hamilton and Alec Black are going to see that the plays on the bag are called right. Charles "Bugs" Walther, president of the New Castle Mushball League is going to serve in an emergency capacity if the umpires fail to show up.

H. S. Christman of the Shenango Tin Mill is chairman of the program committee and he has spent a lot of time getting the program in shape as to time and features. the mayor's committee. The flyers, it is expected, will spend the night at a hotel in Garden City. Tomorrow morning, it is deposited, they will be flown from Roosevelt Field in amphibian and landed in New York Harbor, near the Statue of Liberty.

Ready For Welcome

The welcoming boat, the Macom, will be waiting there, loaded with silk-hatted dignitaries. The flyers will be taken to the Battery, where they will disembark. Then will follow the traditional routine of a parade up Broadway to City Hall where they will be officially greeted by Mayor James J. Walker.

Weather conditions for the flight of the Southern Cross from Harbor Grace to New York, a distance of about 1,500 miles, will be satisfactory, according to Dr. James H. Kimball, meteorologist. It may be cloudy part of the way but the nearer the flyers come to New York, the better the conditions, it was indicated.

The police have made special arrangements to handle a large crowd at Roosevelt Field. Within a few hours, thousands of persons, it was expected, would be converging on Roosevelt Field from all directions.

On Lindbergh Air Trail

Gloster, Mass., June 26.—After fighting fog for hours today on her hop from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, to New York, the airplane Southern Cross came out of the banks of mist over Nova Scotia at 11 a. m., finding a "clear patch" and sighting land. The plane then headed for the New England coast line.

To judge from messages picked up at the Ten Pound Island radio station of the New England coast guard service, the Southern Cross was taking a course inside the so-called "Lindbergh Air Trail," planning to circle a over the city of Lynn, Mass., and then head probably overland to New York.

The Southern Cross which had climbed over a mile in the air in an effort to get clear of the fog came through with this message at 11:00 a. m.

"Found clear patch and came down to 1,000 feet. Now passing County Harbor, Nova Scotia, on our left. Weather good with sky partly overcast at 1200 feet. Dead on course for Lynn over which we circle once to say to you cheerio, Balchen and McIlvaine."

While the President has denounced the Rankin bill, its defenders replied with just as heated attacks upon the President's position, charging the administration was denying World War veterans in actual need and distress the relief which a grateful nation promised them.

A corps of experts worked most of the night, perfecting the Swick-Johnson bill. Republican leaders claimed its pension features would benefit 25,000 veterans, while backers of the Rankin bill, which extends compensation to sufferers from chronic diseases discovered before Jan. 1, 1930, assailed it as a subterfuge.

Rep. Rankin (D) of Mississippi, author of the bill passed by congress characterized the Swick-Johnson measure as a pension bill that would create political jobs instead of relieving veterans.

Rep. Johnson (R) of South Dakota, which will present it, said: "The bill removes the discriminations of the Rankin bill and treats all ex-service men alike regardless of the nature of their disease."

THREE IMPORTANT ITEMS REMAIN ON CONGRESS CALENDAR

000—a total exceeded only in war times.

Administration leaders expected a quick decision in the prohibition controversy, over appropriating funds for the law enforcement commission.

Senator Glass (D) of Va., a dry, proposed a $50,000 appropriation, with the commission confined to investigating only prohibition conditions.

Senator Jones (R) of Wash., administration dry, proposed to give the commission $250,000 to continue all forms of inquiry into general enforcement.

It was possible Glass would win, since the house refused to appropriate anything for the commission.

The Boulder Dam controversy centered on a $10,660,000 appropriation for starting work on the project July 1.

The two Arizona senators—Ashley and Hayden—charged Los Angeles and California had failed to carry out agreements made before congress adopted the original Boulder Dam bill. They sought to shut off the appropriation until Arizona's demands for water and power were satisfied.

Closure Petition

Administration leaders circulated a petition for closure, securing the necessary 16 signatures for a formal vote on adoption of the "gag-rule."

This very threat was expected to result in an agreement limiting debate and providing for a final vote during the afternoon. If such agreement is not reached, the senate will be forced to vote on closure, which would require a two-thirds plurality for adoption.

With closure enforced, the senate will be able to spend a single hour for each senator, insuring a final vote by nightfall.

The Muscle Shoals row resulted from an effort of Senator Black (D) of Ala., to force the Secretary of War to sell power from the project to nearby municipalities in Alabama.

Black sponsored a resolution, declaring it was the sense of the senate that power should be sold to the cities and demand a record vote on it. He complained the Secretary of War had disregarded the intent of congress and confined the sale of Muscle Shoals power to private companies. He said this program was permitting 75 per cent of the power to go to waste while nearby cities desire to purchase it.

With these matters settled, the senate will be ready to join with the house in settling the controversy over World War pensions and adjourning.

COMPLETE CHECK OF COUNTY AND CITY POPULATION

been gone over with a fine tooth comb and is as near correct as is humanly possible to make it, Supervisor Brown believes.

City Community Figure 61,900.

The report on the census, which was submitted today by Supervisor Brown to the Chamber of Commerce, is very gratifying, Secretary Alfred W. Chilton believes.

In addition to showing a substantial gain for the city and county, the figures for the surrounding townships of Hickory, Union, Shenango, Neshaunock and South New Castle showed a population of 61,900, which may rightly be termed the New Castle city-community, inasmuch as a majority of the residents of this district have their community life in New Castle, he states.

The increase in population for the city of New Castle during the ten year period since 1920 shows a growth of approximately 10 per cent, Mr. Chilton points out.

"In view of the fact that large industrial cities such as Cleveland and Detroit, etc., have not caught up to the estimate made in 1920, as predicted by the U. S. government, and considering the healthy growth that has taken place in Lawrence county and the city of New Castle, we should be very much gratified over our community's expansion," Mr. Chilton said.

"Mr. Brown with his capable associates has performed an excellent piece of work in the taking of the 1930 U. S. census. The fact that the taking of the census has become much more complicated in the last few years, due to the compiling of commercial, industrial and general business statistics in addition to the counting of the population, census enumeration at the present time is a very difficult task, and Mr. Brown showed exceptional organization and executive ability in the very efficient way in which he handled this work in our city and county, and he is to be highly complimented for his services rendered to this community."

"This growth in population should be looked upon as a good indication of sound and healthy conditions and it is conclusive proof that our city and county are progressing in a favorable manner."

HOPING FOR THE WORST

AMONG persons who know something about it and among persons who know nothing about it the tariff continues as the chief topic of conversation of the day. Optimists look to the new schedules to restore prosperity and end unemployment. Pessimists fear they will only make matters worse. Among both groups there are naturally some who think on the tariff as they feel politically.

But among all those partisan critics who have so vehemently assailing the new tariff law there is probably none who would not gladly avail himself of Secretary Mellon's advice regarding his private business affairs. The financial world attaches great weight to his expert opinion, based not only on his long experience as a banker but on his leadership in the industrial field and his knowledge of national and international finances.

And yet when Mr. Mellon says the new tariff law makes a definite contribution to business stability it will not allay the partisan criticism of that law, although business men will be reassured.

The wish that the tariff measure will give no prosperity and much confusion to Republican congressmen and their party is the father of the thought entertained by Democrats and insurgents that it is a destructive piece of legislation.

INCOME INSURANCE

Employers and employees alike will follow with interest the plan originating in the General Electric company plants for the stabilization of employment and the relief of the unemployed. Success for the scheme means its adoption in other industries, where its further success might go far to stabilize employment generally and reduce to a minimum the hardships and suffering incidental to unemployment.

Under the plan a trust fund will be created, into which each employee participating will pay about 1 per cent of his earnings for a period of three years. The company will match these payments and guarantee 5 per cent interest on the fund.

In abnormal times of unemployment normal contributions by participating workers would cease and all employees would be called upon to contribute. Thus employees who are subject to lay-off would aid themselves as much as possible, and when they could no longer do this, employees who are still working would contribute toward the aid of the jobless.

The company management would co-operate by endeavoring to curtail both temporary labor increases and lay-offs by transferring employees from slack to busier departments and postponing construction and maintenance work, wherever possible, from busy to quiet periods of production.

Success for such a plan can come only through the fullest co-operation between employer and employee, and the nation will be interested in the outcome quite as much for the experiment in such co-operation as for whatever contribution it makes to stabilization of employment.

BIDDY'S PART

When the farm wife depended upon "Biddy," the hen, to reproduce her kind through the medium provided by nature, little attention was paid to any of the ailments of the flock. About the only diseases recognized were the pip and roup. In those days a live chicken was worth only a few cents more than one that died of disease.

The situation is different today. The last decade has witnessed an amazing change in the scope and method of poultry and egg production. The humble hen is now a recognized asset, a chief source of income and as such is favored with the best food, shelter and attention. A veterinarian is summoned when disease appears among the flock.

Chicken breeders sold $200,000,000 baby chicks last year and American hens lay 700 eggs every second, or 2,000,000,000 dozens a year. The annual value of poultry products in this country is in excess of $1,000,000,000, which is 16 per cent of the value of all livestock production. It is second only to the value of dairy products.

And yet, in spite of her importance in the commercial life of the country, the hen has never come into her legal rights, in the way of recognition by law, and has not had her fair share of congressional favor. Congress has appropriated millions to fight the hog cholera and bovine tuberculosis, but little or nothing toward insuring good health for barnyard fowl and their aristocratic relatives in the henneries.

INURED

Twenty-five years ago the town dweller who awoke on a summer morning to hear the pattering of rain against the window moaned dismally, denounced the visitation as an all-fired nuisance, and in all probability carried a terrific grouch to the breakfast table and office or factory.

The urbanite of that period was strictly a city man. That is to say, he was the product of close formation living. Rain to him had no significance save sloppy walking and the annoyance of umbrellas and overshoes.

Today conditions have changed to make the city and town dweller rain-conscious in a more agreeable sense. Residential development has seen a departure from the compact, cramping confines peculiar to an earlier day. Urbanites have become acquainted with grass, flowers, shrubbery and grass. Even houses in rows have their patches of lawn and flowers, however tiny, and suburban developments with their more pretentious lots have sprung up and grown like Jonah's gourd.

The citizen of the town who now awakes in the morning to hear the patter of rain on the window thinks of it gratefully in terms of budding leaf and germinating seed. In all probability he repairs to the bathroom and sings with the poet:

"It isn't rain to me,
 It's raining violets."

Hoover And The Pension Bill

President Hoover is at that stage where he has only to ask for something to have the Senate vote overwhelmingly against it. He opposed the new World War Veterans' compensation bill on the ground that it went far beyond what the American Legion itself asked for and was both unwise in its provisions and unjust to the taxpayers. The Senate passed the bill 66 to 6.

The Senators, of course, did not expect the bill to stand as it is. They knew well enough that it would be changed, but they meant to take credit with the veterans for handing out the money and let the President get the blame for not being as liberal as themselves.

It is a miserable situation, but fortunately the country thinks better of Mr. Hoover than the Senate does.

The country knows that Mr. Hoover is sincere when he says that there are cases of veterans who are in need of help and are suffering, and to whom he earnestly wishes to see generous treatment given. It knows that he would go as far as anyone in relieving distress and in paying the nation's debt to the soldiers. But it knows also that he is an honest and conscientious man and that he would not stultify himself by approving anything he considered wrong.

The nation's treatment of its disabled veterans should be made more humane. Red tape should be cut and assistance given immediately to those who are in need of it. But whatever is done should be done in a spirit of justice and fair play. Few of the veterans would favor anything that savors of the pork barrel. Exchange.

Rome sends disquieting news concerning the health of Pope Pius. When he recently appeared in public at a canonization in St. Peter's before 50,000 worshippers, he seemed in excellent health, his voice resounding through the great cathedral.

Hot weather on the day of the ceremony, accentuated by his heavy vestments, is believed to have brought on an internal attack from which he is now suffering.

Millions all over the world hope that the attack may pass speedily and that Pope Pius, now only 73 years old, may live beyond the age of his predecessor, Leo.

He will be remembered as "the pope of the conciliation" because of the accord brought about between the Vatican and the government of Italy during his reign.

An elephant takes a long time making up his mind, especially when crossing a bridge. You may see the biggest, wisest elephant, dragging a British cannon, with one foot on a bridge, waiting before deciding that the bridge will hold. Then he goes over.

The Republican elephant in New Jersey is in the same thoughtful mood.

But Dwight W. Morrow has shown him that it is possible to gallop over a wet bridge to victory on the other side. And he will force the Republican elephant to come in and be wet also.

Those were easy days in Wall Street a few months ago.

One Wall Street broker now in bankruptcy, who flew extra high, while high flying was the rule, really can't remember to whom he gave thousands of dollars worth of jewelry purchased in a few days.

He said it was necessary to live well, at the rate of about $400,000 a year at least, merely as a matter of advertising.

Money is cheap in Wall Street, only 2 per cent for the "call money" used for speculation. Tuesday the desire was still to sell, not to buy, although some good stocks like call money, are very cheap.

Big insurance companies, and other lenders, if they chose, might promote business and building by reducing the present high mortgage rates.

Uncle Sam feels prosperous. Last Saturday he had a surplus of $223,000,000.

Congress' appropriations and the government effort to corner wheat may easily eat that up. Wheat fell off four cents Tuesday. Corners are expensive.

Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt says: "Character building begins in the cradle."

Parents should train children from their babyhood.

An old English horse trainer was asked: "When should I begin training my colt?"

When told that the colt was three weeks old, he said: "You have lost the three most important weeks."

Children should be trained with kindness and explanation, never with whipping or other brutality, from babyhood.

But don't waste too much time correcting and nagging concerning faults that the child will outgrow with time; and not otherwise.

For seven years Kemal Pasha has been modernizing Angora, new capital of Turkey. Now, in half an hour, a cloudburst washes away nearly all that has been accomplished, roads and sidewalks, model dwellings, children's playgrounds, all gone.

Can you imagine the shaking of ancient Turkish heads, certain that the prophet Mohammed, with the aid of Allah, the only God, came down to start the cloudburst.

Kemal took the veil from women's faces and the fez from the heads of men, making them wear derby hats. He erected huge statues of himself, although Mohammed said you mustn't. No wonder the cloudburst came.

Those Turks are almost as superstitious as some of us.

ON MARRIAGE

Unless she takes a man for life she'll never make a patient wife. Unless he weds for life, then he's a fickle husband's sure to be. For people quickly move away Who feel they're not obliged to stay.

Think you a woman would submit To any husband's crazy fit And patient be with every whim It shortly she'd be rid of him? I fancy better things she'd say If he were soon to go away.

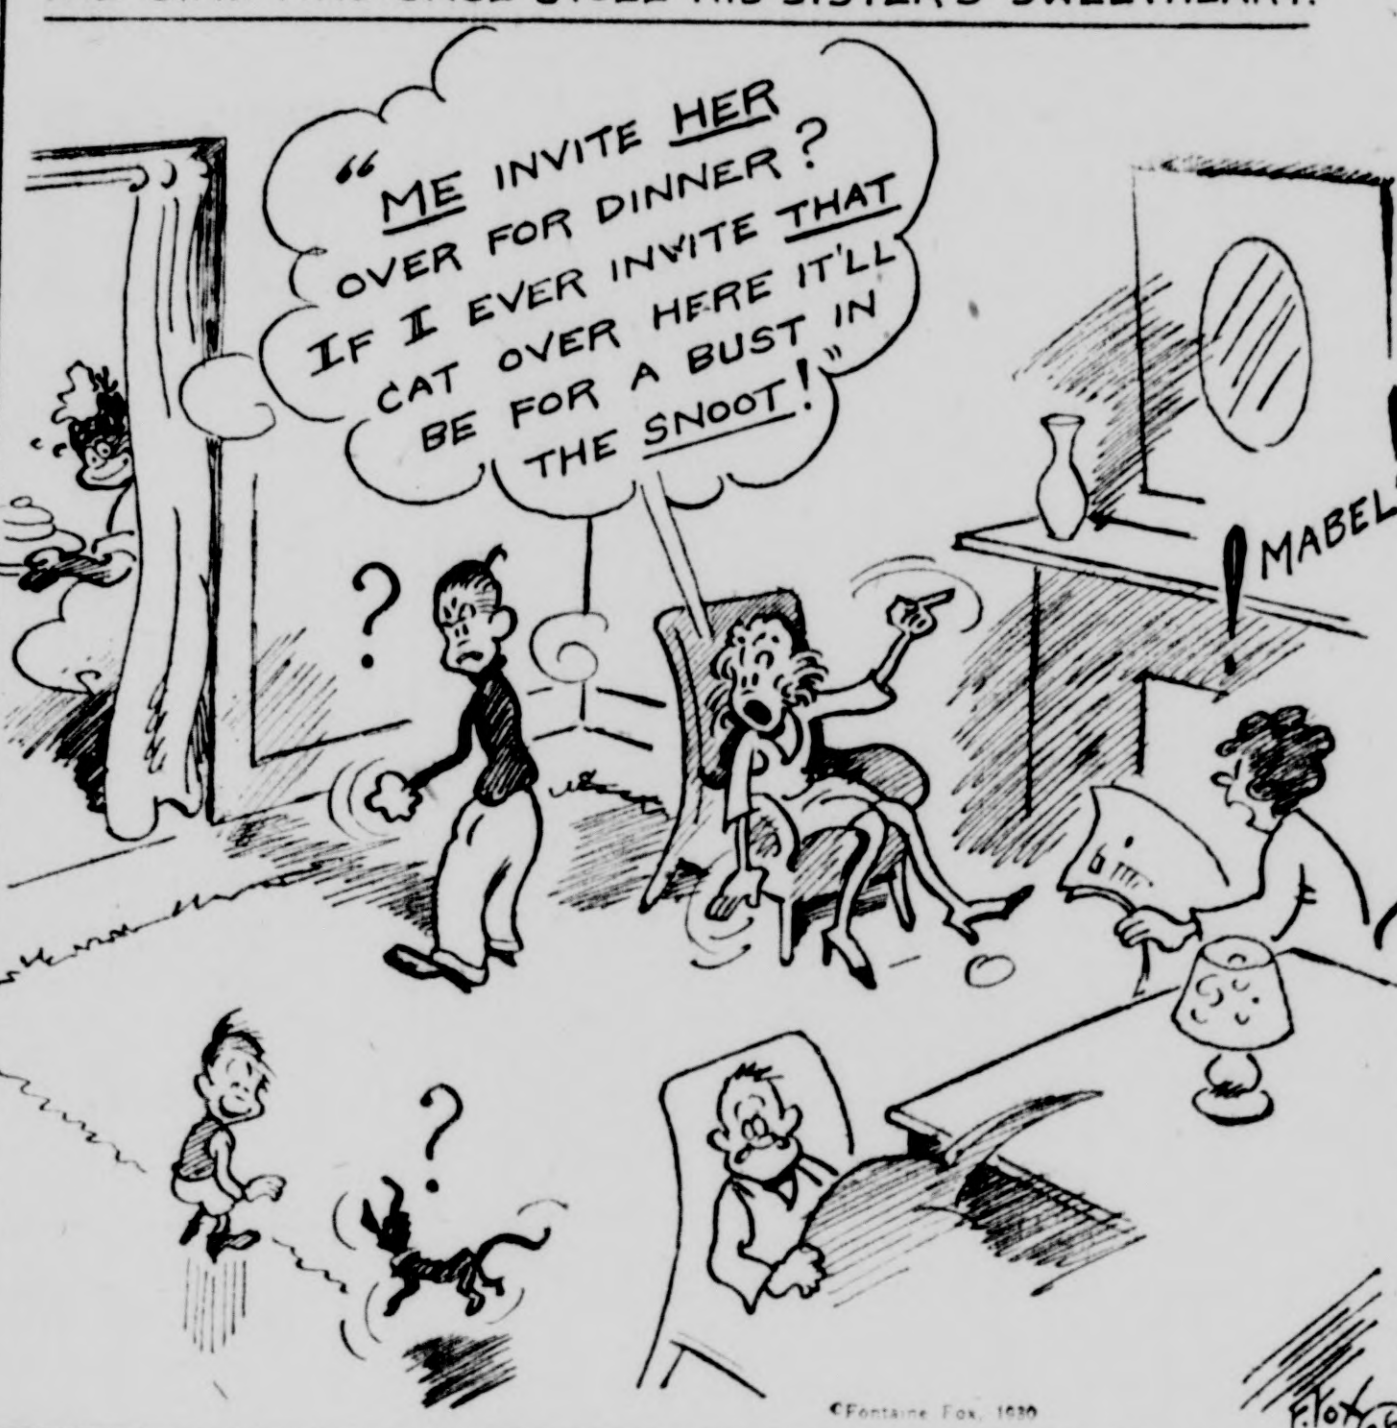

And likewise he, if she should scold Would pack his girl, and quit the fold. And say: "No sense in this I see! This nagged no longer will I be. You have a tongue that's never still It's time to change and change I will."

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:35. Sun rises tomorrow 4:31.

It's funny. In spite of the fact that the cherry season is now on in full blast, we heard of few small boys falling from the trees and breaking their arms.

Two Philadelphia youths, armed with guns, started out for a nearby cemetery to hunt ghosts. One of them got nervous and shot off his pistol, wounding the other. And no ghosts were found.

"Former policeman returns with five million fortune," reads a headline. However, this one came by it honestly. He inherited the estate of his father, who was a sugar magnate of Hawaii.

William H. Coverdale, president of the Seaboard Airline told Geneva College students at their recent commencement exercises that chemically their bodies were worth no more than 98 cents. We have seen some men, we wouldn't give a dime for.

"The children are taught the Communists' songs. They are taught communistic games. In playing 'hide-and-seek' they 'hunt the capitalist' and 'find ammunition'."

—Mrs. Walker of the D. A. R.

A Buffalo preacher braved the pistols of two youthful bandits he had caught in his church, and after securing their confidence, persuaded them to turn from the path they were following, on promise not to prosecute them or tell their mothers.

That was far better than having them sent to a prison where they would probably have been real crooks when they came out.

Providence Rhode Island claims a youthful prodigy who can tell on what day of the week any date given him falls. Perhaps he's going to become one of those calendar experts.

The above picture shows a cabinet that ought to click in every corner of the land. Why not? It's the only automatic arrangement of its kind on hand today. With this mirthful mixer in the home it's possible to take a few rocks... a handful of rye... a dozen peppers of dew—put them in the barrel... and set the time-piece to do the rest. Every half hour the clock clicks... the piston pushes... and the barrel bounces. Thirty days thereafter you are more than likely to have something on tap that will tip over the silliest Samuel that ever handled a seidel.

Chicago citizens believe that Ambassador Dawes could rid Chicago of its gangster killers. He would make it hot for them at any rate.

A Pittsburgh policeman is seeking a divorce because his wife smokes cigarettes in bed. It's bad enough for a woman to smoke a cigarette at all, let alone in bed. We don't blame him.

One thing we are sure of. No one will ever be able to suck liquor through a Literary Digest straw.

CHICAGO—If the strains of martial music can awaken the spirit of patriotism, surely the melody of a love song can awaken love in the heart of a maid.

So reasoned Harry Marona, 18 years old, 154 West 24th street, as he tuned up his banjo early today and stationed himself beneath the window of Jennie Marrello, 18 years old Princeton avenue and West 23rd place.

A serenade was wafted into the Marrello home. Whatever effect the music had on the young woman is not known, but the effect on her father, Joseph Marrello, was instantaneous and militant.

He grabbed his revolver and quickly decided to put an end to the serenading. Out the front door he darted at Marona.

Marona dropped his banjo and fled.

We were reading an account of where a California man found a rattlesnake coiled up in his auto, to a friend of ours, and his only comment was "well wouldn't that strike you?"

Morrow Victory Applauded
On All Sides As Nation's Gain

Republican Nominee for Senator From New Jersey Inspires Hope That Other Substantial Leaders May Follow His Example.

Hope that other men of high attainments may seek public office is expressed in the comment on the overwhelming success of Dwight W. Morrow in his New Jersey campaign.

It was first of all the victory of a man," says the ATLANTA JOURNAL, "with the further explanation: 'Most of those who differ with his political leanings can but admire him personally and be refreshed by his freedom from cant. It is a healthy omen, this wide and warm response to a candidate who gave himself no airs, truckled to no prejudice, indulged in no rant and professed no passions. We are likely to have better government when common honesty and common sense are duly valued.'

Similar comments come from Democratic and Republican newspapers, the chief dissenting voice being that of the RALEIGH NEWS AND OBSERVER, which, while conceding that "Morrow had the prestige" assumes that "he had to be wet to win in New Jersey," and offers the further verdict: "The effect of this victory on the whole political situation is shattering the fiction that the Republican party has carefully nurtured where the nurturing was desirable, that the Democratic party is the wet stronghold. It emphasizes the truth apparent all the time to those who cared to see that the Republican party plays wet in wet States and dry in dry States but sticks to the Republican game in all the States. It demonstrates as nothing politically has recently demonstrated that there are wet and dry elements in both parties. It strengthens the observation that nothing but disunity awaits any party when one group of it insists upon paramount prohibition above all other considerations as a national issue between the parties."

"On the strength of Mr. Morrow's overwhelming victory" says the NEWARK EVENING NEWS, "Republican leaders are looking for a similar effect for the gubernatorial race next year. The lesson that rightly draws from the contest is that primaries must be made attractive to draw the voters out. The vote was the largest that has been polled at a Republican Senatorial primary. At least 100,000 more votes were cast than in the Edge-Kean primary contest in 1924, and 50,000 more than in the Keen-Stokes-Frellinghuysen contest in 1928, both Presidential years. More than a half million Republican men and women went to the polls and registered their preference on a rainy, rainy day in June with all the distractions of the opening of the vacation season. The prohibition issue is a partial explanation of Mr. Morrow's personal popularity."

"The whole country will look forward eagerly to the time when Mr. Morrow will take his seat in the Senate," declares the PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE, "advertising that 'without disparagement of the Democratic candidate, Mr. Simpson, the extraordinary fitness of the ambassador presents an opportunity to be viewed above partisanship.' The AKRON BEACON JOURNAL states: 'It will be acclaimed as a major victory for the wets. One doubts, however whether it can be considered a true test, for many citizens who are normally dry vote for Morrow because they consider him as having the best mental equipment of the office.'"

The KANSAS CITY STAR comments: "Those who disagree with Mr. Morrow's position, as the Star disagrees with it, may welcome the unsavory discussion of the repeal issue that may be expected from him in the Senate." That the drys were willing to forgive his wetness is the conclusion of the LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL and the BALTIMORE SUN while the LEXINGTON LEADER agrees that "his willingness to assume the responsibilities that go with the office will encourage other able men to enter public service."

"Mr. Morrow is a man of exceptional ability," according to the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS "whose distinguished services have demonstrated his qualities of leadership. Whatever may be his personal opinions, it is not likely that very many of his fellow citizens of New Jersey recognize that he will go far wrong on any great national issue after considering it in all its aspects."

"A victory for the people of New Jersey and for the country at large" is seen by the JERSEY CITY JOURNAL, which congratulates the State on the opportunity to contribute to the government of the nation a mind which thinks and speaks clearly and sharply, a personality which charms, a character of force and industry "a remarkably fine citizen" a man of "truth, simplicity and courage" one of brains, judgment and foresight and a "finely equipped statesman."

are the HARTFORD TIMES, the NEW YORK EVENING POST, the MANCHESTER UNION, the RUTLAND HERALD and the SYRACUSE HERALD.

"It was plainly a 'man' and not a 'party' or 'anti-prohibition' victory," asserts the LITTLE ROCK ARKANSAS and the PASSAIC DAILY HERALD. "The effect of this victory on the whole political situation is shattering the fiction that the Republican party has carefully nurtured where the nurturing was desirable, that the Democratic party is the wet stronghold. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Avoid that future shadow* by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain that modern, ever-youthful figure. "Reach for a Lucky instead."

*"No special dietary, but moderation in eating and drinking and not more than three meals daily," is Dr. F. We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. Those Irishmen will be welcome.

H. E. Folger, once chairman of the Standard Oil company of New York, leaves $10,000,000 for a "Folger-Shakespeare memorial". The memorial will have a Shakespearean collection in Washington and accumulate information concerning Shakespeare.

The income from $10,000,000 might have been used better to give a good edition of Shakespeare to every boy and girl graduating from high school. But anything that honors Shakespeare is well done.

TIMES, while the ROCK ISLAND ARGUS states: "It will be in order to discuss Mr. Morrow in relation to further political honors when he is Senator-elect. His vote would indicate that he has every prospect of success in November." THE WATER-LOO TRIBUNE quotes predictions that "he will go far." THE HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH voices the judgment: "Morrow's nomination will spur on the 'drys,' who are now as rabid as the 'drys' used to be to further activity, but that it is going to land him in the White House is a development that is not yet apparent." "It was inevitable that the electorate's sentiment on prohibition as now constituted would be a deciding factor," in the opinion of the ASBURY PARK PRESS which also emphasizes "the ambassador's ability as a statesman and a man of affairs and the fact that behind him stood the strongest political machines ever assembled in the State." THE RICHMOND NEWS LEADER sees in the result the prospect of the coming in to the United States of a man of extraordinary power, who can supply what the anti-prohibitionists have long needed—a definite, reasonable substitute for the 18th amendment.

Mr. Morrow's theory of dealing with the prohibition question inspires the statement by the CHARLESTON EVENING POST that he "was the first Republican of the front rank in ability, character and freedom from political device to present it as a straight issue upon which to rest his candidacy," and the conclusion that he "instantly stood forth as the leader of a real and striking policy within the Republican party." THE CHARLOTTE NEWS believes that "if he should win, the victory would be interpreted as a definite trend of Republican leadership away from the 18th amendment and in favor of some other method of dealing with the liquor problem."

Grove City Post Sends Delegate To Warsaw Meet

John Gursky, Native Of Poland, To Represent Legion At World Peace Meeting

GROVE CITY, June 26.—John Gursky, well known painting contractor of Grove City will represent the Grove City Post, American Legion at the World Peace Conference to be held in Warsaw, Poland next month. Gursky will sail from New York on July 5 and will leave Poland, August 13 for his return voyage.

The sending of a delegate from the Grove City post to the faraway land was decided at a meeting of the legion Tuesday evening in Grove City, and is probably the first time that an organization or a community of a like size has shown such material evidence in affairs of the world.

Mr. Gursky is a native of Poland, speaks the language fluently and is well posted in the aims and policies of the American Legion with regards to the peace movement now under consideration by the nations of the world. Harlan Surrena and H. M. Caruthers, were named delegates to the state convention at Harrisburg which convenes August 15.

During the meeting medals were presented to the most popular boy and girl of the eighth grade in the Grove City schools. The awards went to Jack Caruthers and Ruth Montgomery.

North-McDowell
A wedding of charming simplicity took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock, when Miss Ruth Marie North, daughter of Mrs. Anna M. North, Elm street, Greenville, became the bride of Rev. Quincy A. McDowell, of Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia, son of E. A.

McDowell, of Grove City, in the First Presbyterian church of Greenville, with Rev. Dr. Homer B. Henderson, of Grove City officiating.

Both Rev. and Mrs. McDowell are well known in Mercer county. The former is pastor of St. Andrew's church in Sydney Mines. He is a graduate of Grove City college and Princeton Theological Seminary. Miss North is a popular Greenville girl.

After a motor trip to Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia, following a Canadian route, the popular young couple will reside at the manse of the St. Andrew's Presbyterian church in Sydney Mines.

BRIDGE WORK PROGRESSES

The new bridge connecting Chestnut street, and Woodland avenue, is rapidly nearing completion and within a short time the contractor who has been at work for the past winter will be completed with the work, making this the largest viaduct of its kind in the county. The bridge is rapidly taking on the form of a beautiful structure and will be a credit to Grove City as well as greatly relieving traffic conditions on the east side of town. With the completion of this improvement it will be unnecessary for traffic going to the east side to pass by the Cooper-Bessemer plant where the large number of cars greatly obstruct traffic on Lincoln avenue.

CLASS TO PICNIC

The Aokua Bible Class of the Presbyterian church will hold their annual picnic at Memorial Park this evening at 6 o'clock.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

WE NEED MATURITY

Perhaps youth, sitting under commencement speakers, ought to be reminded of the recent remarks of Henry Ford about the need of men of maturity, judgement, and experience. If all the men of 55 and older were removed from industry, Ford says, there wouldn't be brains enough to carry on. Young fellows leaving school and setting out to conquer the world before day after tomorrow will do well to look and listen a bit before leaping.

THE MOTIVE

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., chairman of the building committee which is erecting a magnificent New York church, present awards for excellent craftsmanship to some of the workmen on the structure.

"We have felt," said Mr. Rockefeller, "that you men have not been actuated solely for the money which you receive, but that your excellent work has been at least partially due to your wish to participate in the spiritual side of the erection of this church. We believe all of you have felt the presence of God—the Master Mechanic. When these awards are distributed the Master Mechanic will say 'well done' and what greater award could come to any of us?"

Stone setters, brick layers, iron workers, and men of many crafts received awards. It is a fine thing the committee did to make workmen real associates in a great enterprise of the spirit.

MODERN IN THE BEST WAY

A new Brooklyn high school will cost five and a half million dollars. It will accommodate 5,000 boy pupils and in it will be expensive equipment for the teaching of aviation, radio, and all branches of modern mechanics. Well, this is modern in the best sense. All the boys are not fitted for high scholarship in the classics or for the average curriculum of a liberal arts college. Too bad that all are not and that there is not time and money enough for all to know the joys of education of the most idealistic type. Such is not the case. Life is not like that. It is solving a problem of industrial civilization to fit young men of a certain type to adapt themselves successfully to the changing needs and opportunities of an exceedingly modern world.

VACATION TIME NOT WASTE TIME

Hundreds of thousands of boys and girls are out of school. They want to play. They ought to play. They need play. Cities which they haven't money enough to build playgrounds or supervise recreation ought to cut somewhere else and get the money. Better do without a new pavement than do without plenty of playgrounds and recreation facilities for children. We ought to have enough sense of proportion to teach us what is vital in the life of our town.

Greenwood Fund Growing Rapidly

Endowment Of City's Oldest Cemetery Materially Increased In May

Endowment fund of Greenwood cemetery, the city's oldest cemetery, was materially increased in the month of May, according to a report just submitted to the directors of the Greenwood cemetery company. There was received from various lot owners a total of $975 for the endowment of their respective lots and in addition to this, the semi-annual interest of the fund already at hand in the endowment fund, was, as has been the custom since the establishment of the fund, turned back into the endowment fund and amounted to approximately $600.

This increase approximately $1,000 in one month in the endowment fund of the cemetery, brings the total amount of the endowment of the cemetery to approximately $24,000. Growth of the endowment fund of Greenwood cemetery since its inception about ten years ago has been phenomenal, considering that it was started with an original investment of but $500.

The purpose of the endowment is to perpetuate Greenwood cemetery and all lot owners are expected to participate in it, if possible, so that eventually the fund will be sufficient to guarantee the perpetual keep of the cemetery.

Only the income of the fund may be used in the upkeep of the cemetery and to date, the directors have been able to operate the cemetery without using even the income, turning it back every six months into the fund. This has been a very material factor in the growth of the fund to its present proportions.

Legion Members Plan For Trip

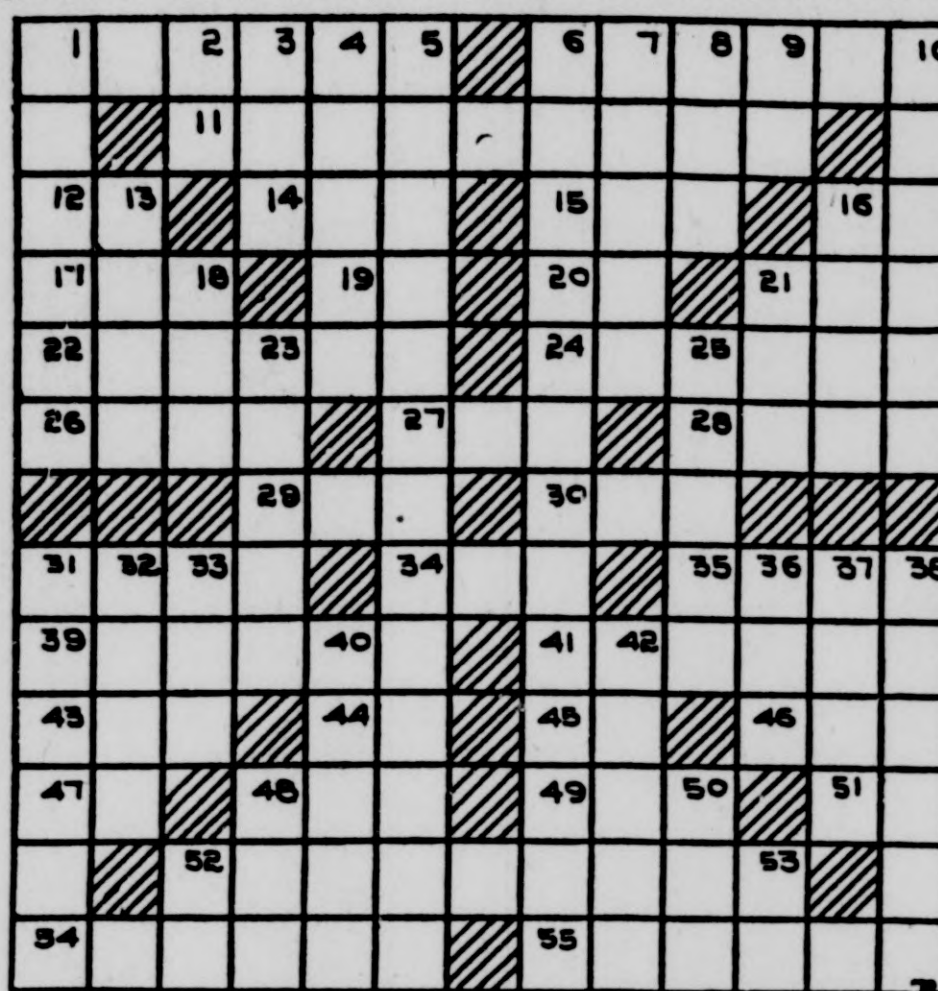

All Expecting To Attend American Legion Convention

Quite a number of members of Perry S. Gaston Post, No. 343, in addition to the five delegates, are planning to attend this big event and it is desired that all those expecting to attend get in touch with Ivor Davis or Glenn Berry at once, in order that they may make their reservations, both for transportation and for hotels.

This encampment gives promise of being one of the biggest and most interesting of such meetings yet held in the state by the Legion.

Peter's Adventures

BY FLORENCE
SMITH

TURNING INTO A LAND-LUBBER

A few words of praise make any insect vain. Peter told Brown Beetle he had bright ideas, and that beetle puffed out his chest until he looked twice his size.

"Bright ideas, have I?" repeated he. "What are they?"

"One of them is that you know a good man down," laughed Peter. "But you see, Beetle, there's a cable attached to the diver's helmet."

"What's a cable?" demanded the Beetle.

"A heavy cord," answered the boy. "And when Mr. Diver has found what he went to look for at the bottom of the sea, and is ready to come up again, he pulls the cord and whoever is waiting for him above the surface—and of course there is always somebody waiting—pulls Mr. Diver out of the water."

"My goodness, what a lot of trouble to get a man into the water and out again," chuckled Brown Beetle. "I am glad we water folk can sink and rise whenever we want to, and don't have to call for help to do it, either. I guess that makes us Water People cleverer than you Humans. Look, boy! While we have been gossiping, Mosquito has been trying to free himself of that helmet of his. Looks to me as though Pupa Mosquito was rising to the surface for the last time. He is thrashing about and Pupa don't do that until they are ready to leave the pool for the shore. I'll bet you the little fellow's hunger is getting the better of him—you see, he can't eat while he has that thing on his head. Yes, sir, it's just as I said. Mosquito is turning into a land-lubber. Mosquito is standing on his tail, pushing his helmet out of the water. The helmet is cracking—the air is drying it up, which is exactly what Pupa Mosquito hopes for. Keep your eyes open, boy."

Graciously attend, O God our Father, the prayers and supplications of Thy people who come unto Thee in Thy Son's name; and that we may obtain our requests, lead us to ask, in all the experiences and exigencies of life, those things that are most in accord with Thy will and with the holy purposes of Thy eternal kingdom. Fireworks Plants Given Sixty Day Time Extension To Meet New State Rules

Sixty days extension of time is allowed fireworks manufacturers of Pennsylvania to comply with the regulations of the Department of Labor and Industry, with the manufacturers agreeing to certain provisions made in the interests of safety. The extension has been granted in an order handed down by the department following a hearing held in Harrisburg on Tuesday, which was attended by local representatives and representatives of other fireworks companies in the state.

Aerial bombs cannot be manufactured during the period of the extension, nor after August 23rd until their plant has been equipped in accordance with the board's regulations. It was thought that the storage of large quantities of aerial bombs was responsible for the explosion at Devon recently, out of which arose the new orders, closing down fireworks plants on June 14th until the new regulations were complied with.

Important New Regulations
More important of the new regulations are:
"No fireworks factory building or fireworks storage building shall contain more than 100 pounds of explosives at any one time, except finished or unfinished fireworks stored in Class A magazine."
"All factory buildings, storage buildings and magazines containing not more than 5000 pounds of explosives shall be 300 feet distant from other buildings or within substantial dividing walls. For large quantities the distance shall be proportionately greater."

"No person other than authorized employees, or representatives of authorized State or Federal departments having jurisdiction over such establishments, shall be allowed in any fireworks plants, except upon written permission of the owner, manager or person in authority."
"No fireworks shall be manufactured except such as shall be approved for transportation by the regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission."

"No fireworks or component parts of fireworks shall be dried in the open or outdoors. Where drying is necessary it shall be done in a dry house."

Five Plants Here
Lawrence County ranks as the first county in the state in the manufacture of fireworks and when the rule was applied, almost overnight, ordering them to make certain changes before further manufacture could be done, it was felt that the plants were being dealt with unjustly. The Chamber of Commerce took the matter up, and after making arrangements by telephone to attend the hearing on Tuesday, Secretary Alfred Chilton, Attorney Clarence A. Patterson and Daniel A. Ross went to Harrisburg. Here the claims of the local manufacturers were laid before the Industrial Board of the Department of Labor and Industry.

The local men agreed that the changes were not unfair, providing they were given time to effect them without interfering with their Fourth of July business. They agreed to keep their plants clean, and require employees to wear rubber soled shoes. Under the new code women will be prohibited from working in fireworks plants, explosives in excess of 100 pounds must be kept in a magazine far enough away from the public to prevent loss of life in case of explosion, and Federal specification must be adhered to as well as the state regulations.

Local fireworks manufacturers are satisfied with the treatment of the Department of Labor and Industry and will adhere to the new rules. The extension of sixty days time is sufficient for them to make the changes and already some of them have arranged drawing plans for their new layouts.

To Build New Tower At South Side Fire House

For the first time in 31 years the tower and bell of the Eighth Ward Fire Department will be disturbed. Workmen commenced to tear down the old tower and remove the bell to find out in what condition the bell is in. The outside of the building will be painted also.

According to the plans made the tower is to be built about 16 feet shorter than the new one. The tower which is being torn down is about 25 feet high. The old fire alarm bell which was erected in the tower in 1899 may be removed forever. Fire Chief Charles Lyrer this morning stated that if the condition of the bell is such that it can not be used much longer it will be removed.

The bell is used by volunteers. This bell was previously used at the Moravia street fire department around 1885. The bell and tower were just about ready to collapse and it was thought best to remove this condition. It will take about two days to tear down the tower and take down the bell.

Bar Association Starts Selection Of New Officers

Erie Man Mentioned As New President Of State Bar Association

BARRISTERS HEAR NATIONAL LEADER

(International News Service) BEDFORD SPRINGS, Pa., June 26.—John W. Brooks of Erie was mentioned prominently for the presidency of the Pennsylvania Bar association as the association entered its second convention session today.

Robert W. Smith of Greensburg and R. H. Meloy of Washington also were put forth as a possible successor to Bernard J. Meyers of Lancaster, president-elect of officers will take place tomorrow, the concluding day of the three-day meeting here.

The assertion that the bar of the United States should assume the responsibility of improving the administration of justice and keeping it abreast of the needs of society was made by Henry Upson Sims of Birmingham, Ala., president of the American Bar association, in an address before delegates present from practically every county in the commonwealth.

Must Improve Law. We might as well admit that society looks to us to assume the burden of improving the law," Sims declared, "even though, as yet, society doesn't assist us in doing it."

"But if we organize as bar associations and proclaim our willingness to do that work conscientiously, there is no doubt the public will allow us to do what we think best."

Sims urged the solution of problems peculiar to each state by individual bar associations. "The law in America is a complex and confused mass," he said. "Substantial deficiencies in administration of justice in Pennsylvania could not be applicable to Alabama or California. Hence, each association and even each local association in large states must work out the problem for itself."

Men! Banish Those Pimples Right Now

Isn't it a pity to see a fellow with good-looking features—but his whole appearance is ruined by a pimply face?

People shun him—those ugly blemishes are so disgusting to them, girls even hate to dance with him.

How would you like to have a person say to you, "Tomorrow morning when you wake up you will notice that your pimples have started to disappear—in three days they'll be gone—in a week you'll have a clear, velvety skin."

This is exactly what Peterson's Ointment offers you and if your skin isn't miraculously cleared your money will be returned.

Thursley Pentecost of Springfield, Tenn., says: "I had used several kinds of Ointment but they did not help. I used Peterson's 3 or 4 times and my face was at last cleared of pimples." Put your faith in Peterson's Ointment, and be free from pimples and blackheads in a week's time—one 35 cent box will prove it—all druggists.

Suit For Thirty Million Is Filed By Radio Company

Grigsby-Grunow Company Of Chicago Asks Five Companies Pay Them $30,000,000

CLAIM ILLEGAL POOL IS FORMED

(International News Service) KANSAS CITY, June 26.—A suit to recover triple damages amounting to $30,000,000 from the Radio Corporation of America, the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, the General Electric Company, the RCA-Victor Company, Inc., and the RCA-Radiotron Company, Inc., was filed in federal court here today by the Grigsby-Grunow Company of Chicago, independent manufacturers of radio sets. The petition also charges the defendants with violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, independent manufacturers of radio sets. The petition also charges the defendants with violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The petition charges that the Grigsby-Grunow Company was compelled to pay royalties amounting to approximately $6,000,000 to the defendants because of the illegal creation by the latter of a vast pool of patents, and was further damaged to the extent of $3,000,000 because of "tube clause" contained in the license agreement between the Grigsby-Grunow Company and the defendants, whereby the former was compelled to buy tubes from the Radio Corporation at a high price and was prevented from engaging in the vacuum tube business until after this clause had been declared illegal in the federal court of Delaware.

Monopolies Blamed. The Grigsby-Grunow Company further alleges in its petition that it was damaged to the extent of $10,000,000 because of these and other acts on the part of the defendants and that under the Clayton act the company is entitled to recover three times the actual damages.

The Clayton Act, passed in 1914, prohibits corporations from creating monopolies by indirect dealing such as offering their products at special low prices until their competitors are driven out of business.

The attorneys for the Grigsby-Grunow Company are James A. Reed of Kansas City and Ernest R. Reichmann of Chicago.

Among other allegations contained in the petition is the charge that while the Grigsby-Grunow Company was compelled to buy tubes from the Radio Corporation the latter failed to provide an adequate supply of them but at the same time dealers and distributors of the products of the Radio Corporation received a sufficient supply of tubes.

Minimum Royalty. The petition also charges that it is and always has been the policy of the Radio Corporation and its affiliated companies to require a minimum annual royalty from its licensees to unlawfully limit the number of persons engaged in the sale and manufacture of radio sets and tubes.

It is further charged that under the set license agreement under which the Grigsby-Grunow Company operates, it was permitted to manufacture radio receiving apparatus for home use only and that the alleged illegal combination did not permit the sale of receiving tests for use in the communication field for toll, or in the field of public use, and that the Grigsby-Grunow Company therefore could not sell radio apparatus to schools, churches, hotels or other public institutions.

The charge is made that the Grigsby-Grunow Company, in order to secure a market for its radio sets, was compelled to accept the unlawful dictation of the defendants, to pay a purchase price of $160,000 and also to pay $80,708 as damages for alleged infringement of patents held by the defendants and has been required "to pay an onerous, burdensome and confiscatory royalty."

Raise Abandoned Deer On a Bottle

(International News Service) SANTA CRUZ, Cal., June 26.—When a stranger to deer habits and deer found what he thought was a mother doe in Big Basin Park, he took it along in his machine, later presenting it to Mrs. Sue Bias of Santa Cruz.

Mrs. Bias at once turned the deer over to Game Warden F. J. McDermott and the deer was taken back to the park and will be raised on a bottle. A young deer abandoned for over 24 hours by its mother is never claimed and had not Mrs. Bias given it to the game warden it would have died.

Bothered With Red Pimples For Three Years. Healed by Cuticura.

I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. It gave me relief so I purchased more and in about four weeks the pimples were all gone. I was healed." Radio Speakers "Listen" To Own Talk (International News Service) NEW YORK, June 26.—To develop their radio voices and to overcome fear of the microphone many prominent public speakers in the United States are making a practice of listening in on themselves both before and after their broadcasts. Dictaphones have been used for several years by speakers who are regularly on the air, in preparing their talks. They dictate their addresses to the machine, then listen in so that they may note and correct any voice or pronunciation defects. This method also enables them to time their speeches accurately.

Alfred W. McCann, who is heard over WOR on Pure Food and Nutrition, was one of the first to listen in on his radio talks. Many congressmen—among them Senator Reed Smoot, Senator Hugo L. Black, Senator W. E. Tydings, Senator Royal S. Copeland and Senator C. G. Dill, have had their speeches recorded so they may hear how they went over the air. One public official discovered by listening to his own broadcast that he had "children" "children" throughout his talk. When he went on the air next time, the mistake was corrected. A newspaper editor, preparing his first radio talk, accustomed himself to talking to an unseen audience by making his address to the office dictating machine several times. He then faced the microphone without fear, knowing just how each word and sentence would sound."

Student Flyer Takes First Outfield Solo Flight: He Lands At Home Of Parents

After circling high in the sky over the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McAnis, of near Mt. Jackson, their son, Marshall McAnis, student flyer of Warren, O., swooped down to the field of R. S. Clark, next to the McAnis home, and made a successful landing. Young McAnis spent Tuesday night with his parents and on Wednesday he jumped into the cockpit of his plane and was off again for Warren. It was his first solo flight away from the Warren flying field, and proved to be a great success.

Young McAnis is employed in Warren and has, during the past year, learned to pilot an airplane, on his own hook. He flew to Mt. Jackson in a three passenger Eagle Rock plane. He had intended to land on the field of his own home, but because of wind conditions, he decided to land on the Clark property. Many friends and neighbors witnessed the landing and came over to greet the young flyer and extended their congratulations. It was a memorable occasion for his parents and the solo trip was probably the first of a series of visits Marshall will make to his home.

Before flying back to Warren, McAnis stopped at the Bradford field for a short time.

GARDENS GOOD

Someone should instigate a cabbage contest in Seven Ward—cabbage, onion or radish contests. The object would be to discover who the best gardener is in the Seventh Ward—and if the judges could come to a conclusion, the gardener would simultaneously be elected the best within a radius of many miles.

Considering the sizes of the plots, the gardens here could be ranked among the best. Everything seems to be growing with unusual zest and the bare gardens of two weeks ago are now veritable forests of growth—and not many weeds included in that statement.

There is a garden on Madison avenue at the intersection of Liberty that seems to be a trifle ahead of the rest. A close runner up can be found on Cherry street.

St. John's Members Wish Rev. and Mrs. Stough "Bon Voyage" On Trip

At a surprise farewell reception at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church last night, the Rev. E. P. Stough, pastor of the church, and Mrs. Stough, were jointly honored by nearly 150 members of the congregation who had gathered to wish them "bon voyage" on the eve of their departure for Europe.

Rev. and Mrs. Stough will sail next Monday for an extensive visit abroad, during which they will witness the Oberammergau passion play. They are sailing with a party of 42 local residents.

Officiating as a reception committee last night were members of the church council. Other members of the congregation assisted them.

Featuring the brief program that took place was the presentation of a purse to the minister and his wife. Mrs. Julius Blaha presented the gift in behalf of the congregation, offering remarks appropriate to the occasion. Rev. Stough responded, thanking the congregation for the gift.

Archery And Mushball Prove Most Popular Sports At Camp

Camp John M. Phillips, the Lawrence County Boy Scout camp began its program Wednesday morning with its good turn period. The camp good turns consist of such things as polishing the grounds, marking the tennis courts and working on the grounds.

The camp Tom Thumb golf course was placed in operation today with a foursome of Hancher, Ziegler, Wallace and Bennett. Due to the efforts of Hancher the game was given the name of "Hanchette—the golfie golf course."

Davy Crockett Wins

The morning inspection was won by the Davy Crockett stockade with a total of 95 per cent. Next in line was the Dave Thompson stockade with 92.5 per cent. Kit Carson with 91.5 per cent and the Daniel Boone with 72.5 per cent. Instruction hour this morning was used for tenderfoot second and first class tests with the following boys passing the tenderfoot tests: Ed McCreary, Carl Ziegler Jr. and Merle Gotjen. Second class test in scout pace was passed by Joe Wilson, Dick Hamilton, F. Bennett, Dick Long, R. M. McCaskey, Charles Gotjen, Ed McCreary and Donald Young. These instruction periods were given by Herb Christman. This test consists of alternatingly walking and running for a mile in twelve minutes, (fifteen seconds either side being allowed.)

Highest point honors were taken by Jack Ziegler, with Al Howell, T. L. May, Ed McCreary and Bill Offutt next. The afternoon swim was enjoyed by all, and due to the heat of the day every boy in camp attended this session. Many friends were there to see the swimming and we feel positive that they wished they could have also been swimming.

Archery Popular

An archery contest between huts 9 and 10 coming out as the winner; with Mac Leslie supervising this. The mushball game between the Kit Carson and Davy Crockett stockades saw Kit Carson coming out victor by a 23 to 20 score. Herb Christman umpired this.

The evening saw a good lively campfire program, held at the Indian Village camp site. A group song was followed by a game "Lilly of the Alley" with Merle (Soup) Farren, Chester Swick, May and Bob Wallace as the criminals. A sketch "The Old Ford" by the Johnsons and Bob Penman was given by hut 11, with Herb Christman acting as song leader. Another group song "Mary ate some marmalade" was followed by a harmonica solo by Bud McCaskey. A

Lakewood Thronged Today With City Mission Children

A host of happy, joyous youngsters of all ages and different sizes were frolicking to their heart's content at Lakewood beach today the occasion being the 19th annual outing of the children who comprise the City Rescue Mission Sunday school.

Special buses, donated for the purpose, carried the multitudinous picknickers to the pleasure resort early this morning where the children have been swimming, boating and taking part in an elaborate sports program throughout the day. The buses will return the children to the city this evening.

John D. Rung, proprietor of the beach had turned over everything to the Mission children for their outing. He waived all expenses as far as the City Mission is concerned, and did everything possible to make today's outing a memorable one. Mr. Rung was also host last year.

Co-operating with the Mission heads were numerous individuals and business groups, who had contributed picnic material or their personal services for the day. The picnic dinner at noon required the help of many, but groups of ladies gladly volunteered their time and the task proved an enjoyable one.

Following the dinner, came the races and novelty contests, in which prizes were given to the winners.

The line-up of sports follows: Western rodeo performance given by a group of men; chicken fight by girls, with the balloon tied to angles; needle threading contest for women; egg carrying contest, milk drinking contest; crab race, wheelbarrow race; fifty-yard dash for girls and boys; fat ladies race; and a tug-of-war contest.

80 MILES ON CRUTCHES
A. Frost, a one legged soldier, has completed a journey of more than 80 miles on crutches in a week. He started from Swindon and ended in London, as a gesture to the public. "Surely if I have the endurance and strength to walk 80 miles on crutches I should be capable of doing work," he said. Frost lost his leg in France while serving with the Royal Naval Reserve. He is the only one left of 10 brothers who served in the World War.

IS LOST INDUSTRY
Is sugar making a lost art among farmers is the question Farm Agent W. S. Hagar is asking himself in an effort to fill out the questionnaire sent by him by the federal government who are making a survey on this industry.

Where one or two decades ago these camps dotted the country and were in operation each spring, now the finding of camps is a real job.

Lack of labor to man them, and prices that are not commensurate with the labor involved are explained as reasons for their desertion.

LAWYERS GOOD FOLLOWS
Any summary of county sport achievements of an up to date character must include the golf team of the Mercer County Bar Association that is ably captained by Hon. Fred S. Fruit, solicitor of the city of Sharon.

The county team has already defeated the Butler county disciples of Blackstone on their own links, and added another pelt to the victory-string by trouncing the Beaver Co. pleaders on the Sharon Country Club links last Friday.

They are matched to play the Lawrence county advocates soon.

A three team schedule has been arranged for. Each club is to play the other twice during the summer season.

The matches culminate in a golf tournament at Cambridge Springs in the late summer which will be for the individual championship of the three attorney teams.

The county team is made up of 17 golfers or as many more or less as are out for the match the day it is played.

It is said that among the county barristers are some of the best golfers in the county.

COCHRAN'S RETURN
Hon. T. C. Cochran and family have arrived home for the summer. Mr. Cochran returns to Washington soon due to the house still being in session.

The family will be here for the summer months.

INSURANCE CONVENTION
At Conneaut Lake Park is being held a convention of the Mutual Fire Insurance companies of Pennsylvania.

John H. Barnes Deputy Sheriff of the county and secretary of the Pymatuning Mutual is one of the committee.

The convention opened Tuesday and continues today and Thursday. The Pymatuning officers and the officials of the Crawford County Mutual will hold an important business meeting today. The Pymatuning under their regulations can only insure up to $4,000 on one risk. To take care of their extra insurance at mutual rates they are asking the Crawford County Mutual to make an underwriting agreement.

VERDICT RETURNED
The jury returned a verdict of not guilty but pay costs in the liquor action against Leonard Dugostino of Grove City. The verdict is the second one of the term of this character.

The court sessions moved very slow Tuesday. There was only one plea. There are enough cases for two weeks steady court at the rate of progress which attendants hope will be accelerated by a few pleas to cut down the term.

80 MILES ON CRUTCHES
A. Frost, a one legged soldier, has completed a journey of more than 80 miles on crutches in a week. He started from Swindon and ended in London, as a gesture to the public. "Surely if I have the endurance and strength to walk 80 miles on crutches I should be capable of doing work," he said. Frost lost his leg in France while serving with the Royal Naval Reserve. He is the only one left of 10 brothers who served in the World War.

IS LOST INDUSTRY
Is sugar making a lost art among farmers is the question Farm Agent W. S. Hagar is asking himself in an effort to fill out the questionnaire sent by him by the federal government who are making a survey on this industry.

Where one or two decades ago these camps dotted the country and were in operation each spring, now the finding of camps is a real job.

Lack of labor to man them, and prices that are not commensurate with the labor involved are explained as reasons for their desertion.

LAWYERS GOOD FOLLOWS
Any summary of county sport achievements of an up to date character must include the golf team of the Mercer County Bar Association that is ably captained by Hon. Fred S. Fruit, solicitor of the city of Sharon.

The county team has already defeated the Butler county disciples of Blackstone on their own links, and added another pelt to the victory-string by trouncing the Beaver Co. pleaders on the Sharon Country Club links last Friday.

They are matched to play the Lawrence county advocates soon.

A three team schedule has been arranged for. Each club is to play the other twice during the summer season.

The matches culminate in a golf tournament at Cambridge Springs in the late summer which will be for the individual championship of the three attorney teams.

The county team is made up of 17 golfers or as many more or less as are out for the match the day it is played.

It is said that among the county barristers are some of the best golfers in the county.

COCHRAN'S RETURN
Hon. T. C. Cochran and family have arrived home for the summer. Mr. Cochran returns to Washington soon due to the house still being in session.

The family will be here for the summer months.

McQUISTON HOME
County Treasurer G. R. McQuiston has just returned from a vacation spent in New Jersey.

INSURANCE CONVENTION
At Conneaut Lake Park is being held a convention of the Mutual Fire Insurance companies of Pennsylvania.

John H. Barnes Deputy Sheriff of the county and secretary of the Pymatuning Mutual is one of the committee.

The convention opened Tuesday and continues today and Thursday. The Pymatuning officers and the officials of the Crawford County Mutual will hold an important business meeting today. The Pymatuning under their regulations can only insure up to $4,000 on one risk. To take care of their extra insurance at mutual rates they are asking the Crawford County Mutual to make an underwriting agreement.

VERDICT RETURNED
The jury returned a verdict of not guilty but pay costs in the liquor action against Leonard Dugostino of Grove City. The verdict is the second one of the term of this character.

The court sessions moved very slow Tuesday. There was only one plea. There are enough cases for two weeks steady court at the rate of progress which attendants hope will be accelerated by a few pleas to cut down the term.

Births And Deaths Lower In State

Births Show Five Per Cent Decrease In State In Past Year

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26.—As compared to 1929, death stepped along to a more lively march tune than did life in Pennsylvania last year, although both fell off in activity, the department of commerce finds in making a study of birth and death figures for the State.

For whereas the number of deaths in the Keystone State decreased only one per cent last year as compared with 1928, births fell off five per cent in 1929 as compared with 1928.

Within the 43 states embraced by the commerce department registration area, births declined 3.6 per cent in number last year as compared with 1928. The number of deaths for the area remained almost unchanged. All but four of the 43 states reported decreases in births. In 21 of the states fewer deaths were reported for 1929 than 1928 while in the remaining 22 states deaths occurred in the later year.

Births in Pennsylvania last year numbered 189,524 as compared with 200,769 in 1928, a decline of 11,245 or five per cent. Deaths on the other hand, totaled 117,365 in 1929 as against 119,607 in the previous year, a decrease of 2,242 or only one per cent.

The infant mortality rate of the state decreased from 72.1 deaths per 1,000 births in 1928 to 70.5 for last year, according to the commerce department figures.

Mean Trick Reported At Castle Mission

Turn Cow Lose in Gardens And Break Into Camp Meeting Tent At That Place

Sometime between 11 p. m. Wednesday and 5 a. m. Thursday, some person or persons, with a strange idea of a joke or for meanness, released Queenie, the Holstein heifer cow of the Castle Hill Mission from her neck chain. To all appearances she then did some damage in nearby gardens, unknown to her owner, L. Schmidt, superintendent of the Castle Mission. The cow had returned home this morning and was with the other cows of the place. To all appearance according to Mr. Schmidt, the cow was led by these persons into the gardens where the damage was done in order to cause complaint and then released her, as is shown by the fact that she had returned to her home. The same person, evidently not satisfied with that, also unfurnished and entered the tent in which meetings are being held and which had been securely fastened the night previous by Frank Warner, the caretaker. No damage was done. Mr. Schmidt regards the whole affair as an effort to make trouble for him and is willing to pay a reasonable reward, he informed the police, whom he called, to find out who did this mean trick on him.

Topics Announced At Camp Meeting

This evening at the Camp meetings being held in the tent on the Castle Hill Mission property, Evangelist, Schmidt will speak on "Verily I Say Unto Thee Today" and an excellent discourse on this subject will be heard.

Friday evening Mr. Schmidt will speak on "How to Heal the Sick" and Saturday evening he will talk on "The Lord's Supper" and show how many people eat and drink this sacrament unworthily.

Sunday there will be services all day beginning at 6 a. m. with a sunrise prayer service and Sunday will be featured by an immersion service at the North street bridge at 3 p. m.

Sunday evening there will be a Hilliness meeting with lesson on "How to Receive the Holy Ghost."

Driver Of Car In County Jail Charged With Being Under Influence Of Liquor

Mrs. John Waddington, widow of a former sheriff of Lawrence county, and who resides with her daughter, Mrs. J. L. Fink, 415 Boyles avenue, is today suffering from a severe nervous shock and injuries believed to be of a minor character, as a result of being struck and knocked down late Wednesday afternoon at North street and North Mill street, by the car driven by C. C. Curry.

Curry, who was taken into custody immediately following the accident by Detective C. G. Logan and Officer Carl Lockhard, was found according to the police authorities, to be under the influence of liquor, and taken to the police station.

He was extended the usual courtesy of the office, being permitted to sit in the lobby of the office while awaiting action by the authorities and attempted to make a getaway. He was followed closely by Officer Robt. Dukes who got him before he had reached Washington street and returned to the office.

A charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor has been made against him before Alderman L. C. Mantz by Chief of Police C. C. Horner and in default of bail, amounting to $500, he has been placed in the county jail pending a hearing.

Curry was driving west on North street at Mill street at the time of the accident, and was in the act of crossing Mill street on the red light, when his machine hit and knocked Mrs. Waddington to the street. She was crossing North street, having waited until the green light was in her favor. She was removed to a doctor's office and the police called.

It was found that she had escaped serious injury and was removed to her home.

Wales Thirty-Six, and Still Far From Altar

England's Popular Prince Seems Likely to Be Second Bachelor King Since 1760.

PRINCE OF WALES. LADY MAY CAMBRIDGE.

LONDON, June 26.—The Prince of Wales, most famous bachelor in the world, has never married because he fears a wife would "boss" him!

If the popular prince, who has just celebrated his 36th birthday, retains his aversion to matrimonial ties until after the death of his father, King George V, he will be the first bachelor to be crowned king of England since 1760, when George III ascended the British throne.

As the heir apparent to the scepter of the greatest empire in the world, the woman question has always been a poser for the prince.

If he so much as talks to a pretty girl, columns touching on the incident appear in newspapers all over the world. If he actually dances with a young unmarried lady the rumor of his engagement to her is immediately broadcast.

Among the young ladies to whom he has been reported engaged are Lady Mary Cambridge, the niece of Queen Mary; Princess Ingrid of Sweden and the Infanta Beatrice of Spain.

But the prince, ignoring all these widely printed stories, has gone his carefree way without contracting a matrimonial alliance.

"During 12 hours of the day," he once told an intimate, "I have to do what other people want me to do. The rest of the time I can be myself."

"If I married, I would have to be what my wife wanted me to be."

If the prince does marry he will choose, it is said, a brunette, good looking, though not of the doll type. She must be intelligent, understanding and capable of curbing his wilder schemes of amusing himself.

Above all, the prince will not marry until he falls in love and according to all actual evidence this interesting and romantic event has not yet taken place.

The reports that the light-hearted prince would loathe the cumbersome duties of ruling the British kingdom were branded false in his biography printed some time ago.

In this volume it was pointed out that no man in the world has studied more comprehensively every problem of government. He will shoulder his burden, he says, when it falls upon him.

East Liverpool Boys Puncture Tires On 69 Cars

Police And Auto Owners Are On War Path In Ohio Town Today

(International News Service) EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio, June 26.—There was a noticeably sulphurous tang in the atmosphere here today. Small boys, innocent and otherwise, sought refuge in improvised hiding places.

Wrathful motorists, making a virtue of necessity, walked to work. Indignant police scanned every youthful countenance for evidence of guilt.

Some time last night, a gang of small boys procured an ice pick and proceeded to wreak havoc among automobiles parked in the downtown district. By the time their arduous task was completed, exactly 69 automobiles rested in deflated and punctured tires.

The most charitable comment today was "mischievous," not quite the other extreme, "Devilish."

Generell's Injury May Eliminate Him

Clem Generell, star catcher for the Universal Sanitary team, injured in last night's game against Scarago, was resting comfortably today, following treatment at the New Castle hospital for a badly stove finger. Generell suffered the painful injury when he nabbed a foul tip during the fifth inning of last night's fray. It is expected that he will be missing from the Universal lineup during the rest of the season's games.

Lady Bugs War On Crop Parasites

(International News Service) MERCED, Cal., June 26.—A real picnic is in store for 10,000,000 ladybugs, which arrived from the Yosemite Valley to help growers of cotton, melons, and beans in Merced county destroy aphids, a plant parasite. Dooley P. Wheeler, county agricultural commissioner, said the 10,000,000 ladybugs were capable of consuming 250,000,000 aphids in one day.

Buchanan Memorial Is Unveiled Today

Memorial To Fifteenth President
Of United States
Unveiled By Ceremony
Today

President Hoover And Group
Of Government Officials
Assist In Dedication

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 26.—A memorial to James Buchanan, of Pennsylvania, the bachelor fifteenth president of the United States, was unveiled today in Meridian Hill park before President Hoover and a group of government officials and diplomats, the cord releasing the cover concealing the monument was pulled by Mrs. Francis H. Denny, a cousin of the former chief executive.

President Hoover delivered an address as did Lawson Riggs, of Baltimore, trustee of the Buchanan memorial fund.

As Mrs. Denny unveiled the memorial the Marine band played the national anthem while the words were being sung by Senior Private Gladstone Gentile, of the Los Angeles, Calif., Post of the American Legion.

Roland S. Morris, former ambassador to Japan, who represented the state of Pennsylvania, made the formal presentation of the monument. President Hoover acknowledged the gift with a brief speech of acceptance and then the spectators joined Senior Gentile in singing "America".

Among those present from Buchanan's home town—Lancaster, Pa.—

was the Newscad Cadet band, Hans Schuler and William Gordon Beecher, the sculptor and the architect of the memorial respectively, also were introduced at the ceremony.

President Buchanan was born in a log cabin in Franklin county, Pa., April 22, 1791, and occupied the White House from March 4, 1857 until March 4, 1861. He died at Wheatland, Pa., June 1, 1868.

Post Office Asks Data On Patrons

Office Here Starts Compiling Names Of All Who Receive
Mail Locally

Officials of the New Castle post office have begun compiling the names of every patron of the local office, and within a few more days a complete list of all who receive mail locally will be in the hands of the U. S. Post Office Department at Washington, D. C.

Carriers distributed blank forms on Wednesday, upon which home owners are expected to place the names of all who get mail at that address. Officials ask patrons to co-operate with them by returning their filled-in blanks to the post office at once.

The names of patrons are being compiled on the instructions of Washington headquarters.

Soviets Seek New Law For Children

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, June 26.—Creation of a separate juvenile code of law and a special department of the Commissariat of Justice to enforce the code were advocated by a conference of educators of which Nadejda Krupskaya, widow of Lenin was chairman.

The conference passed a resolution saying that child labor laws are being violated right and left even by industries and institutions under state control. Child labor on the farms was said to be especially widespread.

In some provinces 70 per cent of the children under 16 do nothing but work in the fields 10 and 12 hours a day. There are cooperative, so called collective farms where boys and girls are paid 5 rubles ($2.50) a month and that small sum is handed out not infrequently in kind instead of cash.

At cooperative toy shops children are paid 18 kopeks (9 cents) a day for painting toys.

M. Perrel, speaking as a representative of the Commissariat of Justice, said that the court frequently failed to respect age in meting out sentences. The Moscow courts, he said, banished 80 child criminals into exile recently against instruction of the Commissariat which had forbidden this form of punishment for minors. Sentences for cruelty to children, he said, were also too mild.

No other person in Soviet Russia has done more for the younger generation than Madam Krupskaya. Though more than 60 years old, it is said she works more than 16 hours a day as head of the children's welfare department of the Commissariat of Education. More than once she has risked political disfavor for advocating measures which she believed were for the benefit of children.

Suppress Report On American Youth

GENEVA, June 26.—On the grounds that the report of its special investigator on child welfare in the United States contains facts that are "too revolting for publication" the Committee for the Protection of Children has decided to suppress the document.

Mr. Charles, author of the report, told International News Service, such of her impression as she felt could be published without violating the order of the League Committee.

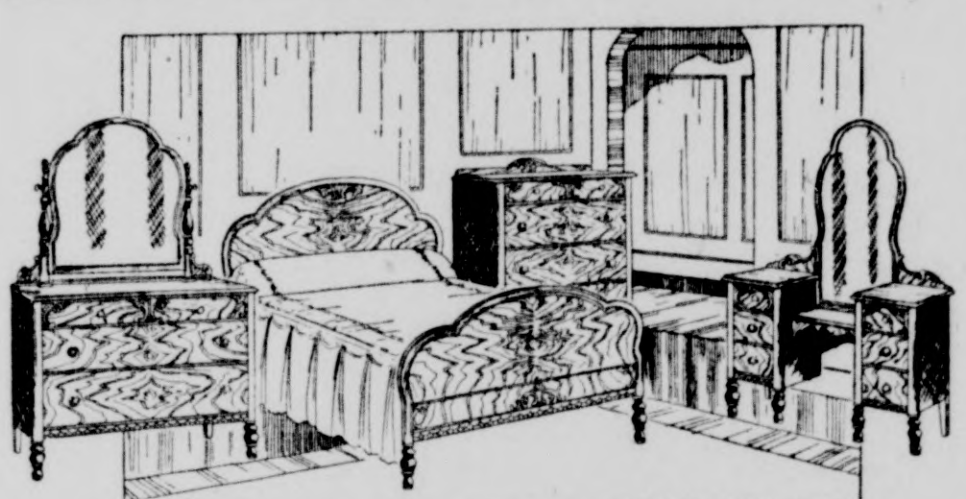

"Throughout America I found the decadence of the family," she said. "Children are brought up only with a view toward their physical well-being and not their moral character."

"In seventy five per cent of the divorce cases there were children who certainly suffered morally because of the separating of their parents."

Tells Mothers To Spank Offsprings

(International News Service)
OAKLAND, Cal., June 26.—Pitch your child psychology books out the window, mothers.

Don't be afraid to resort to old fashioned spankings when your offspring deserves it.

If you must quarrel with father about the bill for your new spring hat or the meat bill, do it when the children are out of the house. Better still, be tactful and avoid family quarrels. It will be appreciated.

With a creed like this, according to Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, president of Mills College, motherhood is bound to be successful.

In her office on the Mills campus, Dr. Reinhardt, who is the mother of two sons of college age, threw several verbal shocks into the camp of the pseudo-psychologists and child welfare specialists. She said:

"Mothers, if they would only realize it and not listen to many lectures on child welfare, are far better fitted to bring up their children than any psychologist who is trying to tell them how to do it."

To Discuss Behavior Problems Of Youth

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Mass., June 26.—Problems on the behavior of the youth of the country, will be outlined, discussed and dissected in a lecture course offered under the joint auspices of the Judge Baker Foundation and the Massachusetts Civic League for the Fall of this year.

The first of the series was scheduled for October 15, at Ford Hall Forum with Dr. Ina Wile, Associate in pediatrics at Mt. Sinai hospital as the opening speaker. "Shaping the Personality of the Individual" is to be his subject. This talk was to deal with significant differences in the personalities of children. "The multiple phases of personality will be stressed with relation to tangible and intangible factors arising from physical, intellectual, emotional and social contacts and experiences."

For the five succeeding Wednesdays eminent psychologists and psychiatrists speak from the platform of Ford Hall. They are in order: Dr. Fritz Wittels, "The Ego of the Child"; Dr. Alan Rowe, "A Possible Endocrine Factor in Behavior Problems"; Dr. Mark May, "Group Codes and Standards of Conduct"; Dr. Marion Kenworthy, "Sex Misunderstandings in Children"; and Dr. David Levy, "Maternal Over-Protection."

100 Stitches Needed To Close Man's Cuts

(International News Service)
RED BLUFF, Cal., June 26.—When local physicians looked over J. W. Newhart of Chico here recently to determine how many stitches would be required to close several cuts he had received in an automobile accident, they first considered sending him to a sewing machine but finally decided to do the job by hand. One hundred stitches were necessary to close the wounds. Newhart received close to his wounds went over a bank on the Lassen volcanic national highway near here. He will recover.

Overproduction In Sardine Industry

(International News Service)
PARIS, June 24.—More trouble with overproduction has come up with the sardines found along the coast of Finistere. Fishermen of Guvinec and Douarnenez brought in such great quantities recently to the manufacturers that prices took a sudden drop and they were obliged to put a limit upon the number of fish in each haul.

Every boat can now deliver no more than five thousand sardines to the cannery factory, the remainder being thrown back into the sea. One of the oldest fishermen made a catch of thirty thousand immediately after the new ruling was made.

Thirty Reasons For New Trial In Paul's Murder

Irene Schroeder's Attorneys
File Supplemental Petition At Court House

ALLEGE ERRORS IN TRIAL OF CASE

Exceptions Are Also Taken
To Statements Made In Judge's Charge To Jury

Thirty additional reasons on which a new trial is asked for Irene Schroeder, convicted of the murder of Corporal Brady Paul, were filed by the defendant's attorneys at the prothono-tary's office on Wednesday evening.
The reasons are supplementary to those already filed.

They relate to allegations of error on the part of the court in admitting certain testimony and in ruling out other testimony. In nearly half of the reasons exceptions are taken to excerpts from the charge of the court.
Arguments for a new trial for Irene Schroeder will be made at a session of argument court scheduled for July 7.

The first error alleged is in admitting certain questions asked jurors being examined on their voir dire questions not set forth.

Errors second, third and fourth relate to pictures taken at Baldwin home near scene of accident on claim that photos were not taken from exact spot from which Mrs. Baldwin saw shooting.

Errors fifth, sixth and seventh relate to photographs taken at Williams home, Zeigler home and Book's truck.

Eighth, court erred in not sustaining objections to examination of Ella Resch as to a newspaper story purporting to have been written by Irene Schroeder.

Nine, court erred in ruling out defendant's defense of irresistible impulse to rob, steal and flee.

Tenth, error in permitting Walter Glenn Dague to answer certain questions on cross examination.

Eleventh, error in not sustaining objection to questions asked Irene Schroeder, relating to statement alleged to have been made to Ella Resch.

Twelve, error in sustaining commonwealth's objection to offer of evidence by Sarah Jane Muldoon, regarding irresistible impulse of Irene to rob and flee.

Thirteen, error in sustaining objections by commonwealth to testimony which was to prove mental condition of Irene as to irresistible impulse.

Fourteen, error in sustaining objection by commonwealth to offer of evidence by Irene as to her mental condition.

Fifteen, error in permitting Dr. C.
C. Wholly to answer over objection of defense questions regarding Irene's mental condition.

Sixteen, error in refusing motion to withdraw a juror and continue case on motion of defendant, based on questions and answers by Dr.

Wholly.

Seventeen, error in permitting Dr.
Mitchell to answer questions relating to criminology.

Eighteen, error in refusing to withdraw a juror on motion by defendant following alleged improper remarks by Attorney Margiotti during argument.

Reasons from 19 to 25 allege error on the part of the court in charging the jury.

Twenty-six, The court erred in failing adequately to charge the jury on the defense of insanity.

Twenty-seven, Court erred in refusing to charge jury to the effect that "if you find that the fatal shot was not fired by defendant or any member of her party, then the crime would arise no higher than involuntary manslaughter," which would not be a matter for your consideration, but a subject of separate indictment.

Twenty-eight, Court erred in neglecting to charge jury "if you find from evidence that fatal shot was not fired by defendant or any member of her party, then defendant should be acquitted."

Twenty-nine, Court erred in charging jury as follows: "You will bear in mind that every person charged with crime can offer as an excuse that he couldn't help but do the act, that he was irresistibly impelled to do it. The danger accompanying a general acceptance of such an excuse for crime is apparent and such an excuse should be recognized only in the clearest cases."

Thirty, The court erred in not charging the jury on the defense theory of the killing; that is, the fatal shot was not fired by the defendant or any member of her party, but by Officer Moore.

All plantation workers in Hawaii

Divorce Follows Golden Wedding

(International News Service)
PROVO, Utah, June 26. — After celebration of their golden wedding anniversary of June 1, Mrs. Francis M. Barney filed suit for divorce from her husband just thirteen days later, on Friday, June 13.

Mrs. Barney, mother of fourteen children, all married, in her complaint, charged cruelty. She alleges her husband came home "drunk a few days after their fiftieth anniversary, choked her, and threatened to kill her."

She demands that the court grant her $30 a month for alimony and order her husband to leave their home.

England Gives Hand To Chorus Girls Under 18 Years Old

LONDON, June 26.—The trim limbed, timid little chorus girl of England has been "given a hand", as Tex
Guinan often has urged her "suckers" in New York night clubs.

In reality it is more than a hand.
It is the protective wing of John Bull,
if you can imagine a wing on a lion.
A charter for chorus girls of 16 and 17 years of age has been drawn up and made effective.

The charter, officially known as the children employment abroad amendment act, was drafted after considerable agitation by moralists.

who claimed many of the girls were taken to strange lands and left stranded when the show collapsed.

Thus, the moralists argued, left only one course open to the girls, too proud to wire home for funds.

The act provides that a special license must be obtained from a magistrate by a producer before he can engage the services of girls under the age of 18. The magistrate must satisfy himself that the girl has the consent of her parents; that she will return home as soon as it is ended, and that her welfare supervised while she is abroad.

If a manager fails to do this he is subjected to a fine of $500 and a sentence of two years at hard labor.

The Trans-Siberian Railway is carrying a weekly average of 300 passengers each way, an unusually large number.

The new fashion in London is to wear jewels on the back, and to der blade.

Trouble Over Water In Slippery Rock

Bathing Beach Owner Says Grist Mill Robs Him Of Water

BUTLER, Pa., June 26.—Sally E. Blythe, owner of a grist mill at Daughery Mills, was restrained from diverting water from Slippery Rock creek through her property in greater quantities than are absolutely necessary for the operation of her mill, in a temporary injunction issued by Judge James O. Campbell. The injunction was issued at the behest of Solomon R. Stoughton, who filed equity proceedings to that end.

Stoughton owns a three and a half acre tract of land abutting Slippery Rock creek on the north for a distance of three-quarters of a mile, which he has converted into a park and on which he has built at a point about 500 feet west of the dam a concrete swimming pool, with bath house, heating apparatus and other appliances at an expenditure of approximately $10,000.

He built the pool, he sets forth in his statement of claim, on the theory he would be able to take sufficient water from the creek below the dam to keep his pool continually supplied with fresh water. The over flow from the dam past his property and into the main channel of the creek, he points out, is a valuable adjunct to his park.

The defendant, Stoughton, claims, owns an eight-acre tract on the south side of the creek opposite his park, on which is situated a grist mill at a point about 1,000 feet west and below the dam. The mill uses water from the dam, which is supplied by a mill race extending through her premises.

Although the mill does not utilize the entire flow of the creek, according to Stoughton, the defendant, when the summer park season opened, began diverting the entire flow of the creek through the race, depriving him of water for his pool, and causing it to re-enter the channel below his park or about 1,500 feet below the dam.

Stoughton asked the court to restrain the defendant from diverting more water than is necessary for the operation of her mill.

This season YOU CERTAINLY CAN AFFORD GOODYEARS

THERE never has been a time when the tire-buyer's money could buy as much as right now.

Rubber's cheap—and consequently tire prices are the lowest they've ever been.

People with an eye to values are seizing this chance and making the most of it.

They're buying Goodyear Tires—because right now they can buy them for as little as they used to pay for inferior or unknown tires.

Why are they singling out Goodyear Tires with especial insistence as against all others?

Because Goodyear Tires are definitely superior in tread and carcass, the two main parts of a tire.

The Goodyear All-Weather Tread is superior in traction.

The Goodyear Supertwist Carcass is superior in vitality and long life.

You are not asked to accept these statements without inquiry.

Any Goodyear Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the facts. The facts certainly are: Goodyear Tires do give greater value. As far back as 1916, it became a fact that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Every year since that time it has been increasingly true that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Today this preference for Goodyears runs into millions: millions more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

More Goodyear Tires than any other kind annually leave motor car factories on new cars—more Goodyear Tires go into service through the great Goodyear dealer organization—more Goodyear Tires are used by transcontinental, urban and interurban buses.

There can be only one conclusion: Goodyear Tires must be better—and at present prices they are a matchless bargain.

Now is the time to get yours.

The Parent Problem

Teach Tolerance In Your Home

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.
You and I want our children to have consideration for feelings and beliefs of others. How strange it is that a particular brand of religion sometimes makes a child disrespect those whose faith is different from his parents' faith. When any of us becomes so narrow and so inconsiderate as to ridicule or speak slightly of the religious faith and practices of others, we are acting irrationally. There is something not only irreligious, but immoral about attitudes that have no tolerance and sympathy for others.

Most little children, particularly in cities, mingle freely with other children from homes of all sorts of religious beliefs, or of no professed beliefs at all. That is, as a rule, very wholesome. I count it a splendid opportunity for my children to have played with other children from homes of Catholic, Jewish and various Protestant beliefs. The almost constant playmates of my youngest child who is growing up in a Protestant home, has faithful Catholic parents and for years he played also with a Jewish child until her parents moved away. There have been times when on our way to church with our children, we have taken with us some of our friends and dropped them off at a Catholic church, or other friends who attended some other church different from our own.

At any time you and I hear our child say an unkind word about any old child's or family's religion, right then and there we owe it to the child to explain to him that it is not kind to say such things and that in our family we do not do so; and we owe it, furthermore, to him to prove that we practice in such matters what we preach. If our religion is to be worth anything to our children it must prove in our lives that it works; that it makes us happier, and makes us more lovable to other people. Then if our children really learn to care for us they will be able, by and by, to say to us as Ruth said to Naomi, "Thy people will be my people and thy God my God."

There are homes where parents not only are of indifferent faiths, but where they are intolerant of each other's faith. Let each go on in his beliefs, but let him at the same time be tolerant of his companion. If at all possible, let each parent attend occasionally the religious services of the other's church, both going with the family. Where there are religious tenets which forbid such liberality the parent who gives up and joins the other's church makes a mighty contribution to the spiritual guidance of the child and to the family's happiness. I doubt whether any particular religious sect can be more precious than the wholesome spiritual nurture of the child and his happy home. We parents may differ from each other, but if we consider our children first we can make any sort of personal sacrifice to this end.

Many people have quarreled and fought over small matters of religion, and many have died for it. Your children and mine ought to have parents who earnestly endeavor to live by a religion which will do our children good.

Who invented the Zeppelin and who holds the patents on it? Lighter-than-air craft date back to the Montgolfier brothers (French) in 1783. The modern dirigible's birth year, however, may be regarded as 1896, with Count Ferdinand Zeppelin (German) getting the bulk of credit but a share of it going to Alberto Santos Dumont (Brazilian). As a whole, the dirigible is unpatented, though patents on many of its accessories are variously held.

Why are society people spoken of as the "four hundred"? The "four hundred" is a phrase coined by Ward McAllister, New York social dictator, in the "gay nineties," to describe the relatively small number of Manhattan society people whom he deemed eligible to be guests of prominent hostesses. The phrase has become a figure of speech.

Where is the monument to the Rhode Island Red fowl? It is in Little Compton, R. I.

On a tailspin does the nose or tail of the plane come down first? The nose comes down first. The heavy nose spins around in a small circle and the tail follows around in a large circle.

What was the origin of the name of the state of Wyoming? The word was taken from Wyoming valley, Pennsylvania, rendered famous from Campbell's poem, "Gertrude of Wyoming." The word means "mountains and valleys alternating."

What is the oldest town in the United States? Probably the oldest continuously inhabited town is Old Oraibi, Ariz., which certainly had a permanent Hopi Indian population at least as much as 50 years before Columbus' trip to America and, though dwindling today, still has 100 to 200 inhabitants.

Has congress passed any law regulating lobbying?

Though the registration of professional lobbyists has been suggested, no such law has yet been passed. Anyone who tries to influence any legislative proposal is, in a sense, lobbying, which may be perfectly proper.

What is the most poisonous snake? The king cobra or hamadryad is probably the most poisonous.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEO LA ALLARD

Right down a greased pole comes the Indiana bachelor, who said that the old fashioned girl has such a superior air that she makes men feel inferior and unhappy. "Miss Twenty-

One" from Detroit took issue with him and said men had faint hearts about proposing. He jumps right into the ring to answer her that she did not lose her office position because of flirting, but for inefficiency. He says he KNOWS because she didn't even get what he wrote straight, so she probably was the same about her office work.

Well—that's pretty good logic at any rate.

He says that it's no wonder the man "left her cold," when she put on her "mask of reserve," a thing that discourages the most dashing Romeo. "She doesn't seem to know," says the bachelor who is "all het up," "that we men lack that intuitive feeling which tells us what's beneath the surface, regardless of appearance. Therefore we must judge by outward signs."

The man is right about that. Men are less intuitive than women. Perhaps that is why we lead them on when we want them, rather than putting on "a mask of reserve." A woman can lead a man without chasing him. There's a great difference. Women don't get the affections of the men they chase. That's the best way to lose them.

"The Indiana bachelor continues: 'The average bachelor is a business man—an executive. And while a limited amount of indifference interests him, he has not the patience or the time to circle around this indifference forever—as if the woman were a sacred white elephant. In other words she carries her indifference so far that the result is 'he turns cold' just as she says. We bachelors would advise girls like 'Miss Twenty-One' to leave bachelors alone, put them out of her mind, and stick to the cheapest clerks—they are the sheiks who find time to build air castles in Spain for them."

Ouch, Mr Bachelor!

It's the same old story, too much of anything is just too much—of anything. A girl can be so aloof that she frightens the men away, or she can be so cordial that she is constantly on his telephone wire, and once he starts courting her she checks him wherever he goes.

Personally I think I would much rather be accused of indifference, even at the chance of having the men think I imagined myself a "sugar angel," than to be accused of dogging a man's footsteps.

Favor Navy To Win Poughkeepsie Classic

BY ROBE GOLDBERG

Crews To Compete This Afternoon

Predictions May Be Upset If Heavy Wind Blows During Race

PICK WASHINGTON FOR SECOND PLACE

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 26.—Dead man's derby of the water, the Great Poughkeepsie regatta, is on between the crews of Columbia, Washington, the Navy, California, Pennsylvania, Syracuse, Wisconsin, Cornell and Massachusetts Tech will be rowed late this afternoon through four desperate miles until the mind is chaos and the heart is numb. Sheer, raw courage alone will span the final mile and, as they come on into the line and, as they come heaving and retching their way home, the body will surrender its dominion and only the soul will rule.

Competitive sport knows no greater show than this. Its drama is so spontaneous, so compelling, that 100,000 people annually crowd the foot-hills, the river craft and observation trains and they revel in the risk and glory of fine, young bodies offered as a sacrifice to school loyalty.

The freshman race of two miles and the junior varsity event of three miles will offer a schedule for 5:30 o'clock. Eastern time. However they promised to start early last year and the only result was that five crews finished in the dark and four others foundered with all on board.

Rough water, the great hazard of Poughkeepsie rowing, was responsible for this fiasco and gain this afternoon wind and wave may rise up from nowhere to add calculations and discount ability.

Pick Navy to Win

Columbia, the 1929 champion that rode the water of the course last year like a surf board, is not presumed to be the best crew in the race today. Yet Columbia will start at Krum Elbow from the outside lane and, with a following wind, it might be in a position to outrow the Navy and Washington, the admitted contenders. Washington, however, will be in the No. 8 lane, with Navy two places removed at No. 6, and so the three favorites will face conditions that won't be greatly dissimilar.

The sentiment of the river is that everything being equal, the Navy will win, with Washington, the only undefeated entry in the race, furnishing a rousing second. Columbia, they say, will not do worse than third place with California and Cornell racing it out for fourth money.

Syracuse Has Chance

Syracuse, boasting six of last year's winning freshmen, has a great chance to make this a three-way fight but Pennsylvania and M. I. T., a pair that has been beaten by nearly everybody, and Wisconsin, beaten by Washington and Pennsylvania in its only races to date, are rated no higher than the three rear places. If the wind is blowing off shore, even these outsiders will have to be considered, however.

Such a condition would mean heavy going for the three favorites and it was heavy enough. Pennsylvania, Cornell, California, Wisconsin and Syracuse, named in the order of their post positions, might be able to capitalize the situation and upset the expected order at the finish. It was such a course as this that sank California, the favorite, and three others last year allowed the obscure crews of Pennsylvania and Wisconsin to row themselves into the pay off positions.

Upset in 1929.

In the same way, it was the so-called "following mind" in 1928 that made it possible for a world-beating California crew, afterward Olympic champions, to row a new record of 19:35.4-5. The Bear was in one of the outside lanes that day and found everything much to his satisfaction.

The Navy and Washington, each three times winner of the title and always consistent contenders, are natural favorites. The former blew an early decision to Columbia but has been foolproof in a series of subsequent victories, one of these being over California. Washington is perhaps not quite up to the Navy in watermanship but it is a crew of vast power and there isn't likely to be many yards of water between them at the end. If Washington is that good, California, beaten by the Huskies in a driving finish early in the year, can't be far away. It might be added that the Bear probably won't be. He seldom is.

Prelims at 3:30 p. m.

The freshman race between Columbia, Navy, Pennsylvania, Cornell, California, Syracuse, Washington and M. I. T., starting in that order, is scheduled to open the program at 3:30 o'clock. Columbia, the Navy and Washington, as in the varsity race, should be the contenders here, with Cornell offering stout resistance.

The junior varsity crews of Washington, the Navy, Cornell, Columbia, Syracuse and Pennsylvania are scheduled to follow one hour later. Washington should win this one, with the Navy second.

In other words, this might become a Washington-Navy regatta. And then again it might not. There is only one known system of anticipating things on this moody, temperamental body of water and this is to anticipate nothing.

West Pittsburg Wins First-Half Title In City-County Circuit

Brakovich Hurls Brilliant Six-Hit Game As Garlands Annex First-Half Title

Polish A. A. Put Up Game But Losing Fight—Fundoots Has Longest Hit

West Pittsburg Garlands have the first half bunting in the City-County league sewed up in the sack and tucked away in the safe for further reference. It all happened last night at the West Pittsburg field when Brakovich curved the daylight out of the Polish A. A., to give the Garlands a 13 to 3 victory and the undisputed possession of the top rung in the league.

Besides allowing but six hits Brakovich fanned ten men and walked three. The Garlands gave their pitching ace fine support. Fundoots had the longest hit of the game, a triple. Kapraly, R. Elssesser, Beres, Marcantino and Baker hit timely for the Garlands, while Maslyk was the only Polish A. A. player able to hit safely more than once.

The Garlands scored three runs in the first inning to take the lead and in the fourth chapter opened up with a barrage of hits that gave them eight runs. Smolnik, Zidow, Russo and W. Soho went to the mound for the losers at various intervals. None of the pitchers could stop the West Pittsburg hitting. Beres and Brakovich had hits with the bases choked to aid the Garlands considerably. Baker caught a fine game for the Garlands and hit timely.

GETTING READY FOR BIG CROWD

Fight fans of the tristate section will flock here next Monday night to see Frenchy Belanger of Toronto and Phil Tobias of Brooklyn settle an argument that has become a moot question from coast to coast and gulf to lake.

According to Tobias he was the subject of discrimination when he was kept out of the New York flyweight eliminations and he claims that he is superior to not only Willie Davies but the champion, Midget Wolgast.

There is no question but that both Davies and Wolgast claim he can earn bigger money elsewhere and Wolgast have kept free from the Brooklynite through demands for exorbitant returns.

But Belanger, Canadian flyweight champion and like Tobias, a terrific champion accepted the bout with Tobias and according to fans who are conversant with the records of both boys it is an attraction that cannot be surpassed.

Jim Buchanan, manager of Davies, here last Monday imagined that the Belanger-Tobias fight talk was bunk. When told they had signed articles Buchanan said: "New Castle has a great fight, as near a championship fight as it could get."

Ciccone vs Brancato

Bud Ciccone, formerly of Scranton, now of Greensburg will tackle Pete Brancato, formerly of Uniontown, now of Cleveland in the six round semifinal at 150 pounds.

Ciccone has fought some good fights in the hard coal regions. Brancato is a rugged, two-fisted, slugger. They are good punchers and someone will probably be knocked out.

Nick Adamo, Seventh ward 165 pounder will tackle Jack Evans, a stablemate of Brancato, who is managed by Jimmy Avon. Adamo has been boxing around Providence, R. I., and is now home to stay and wants action.

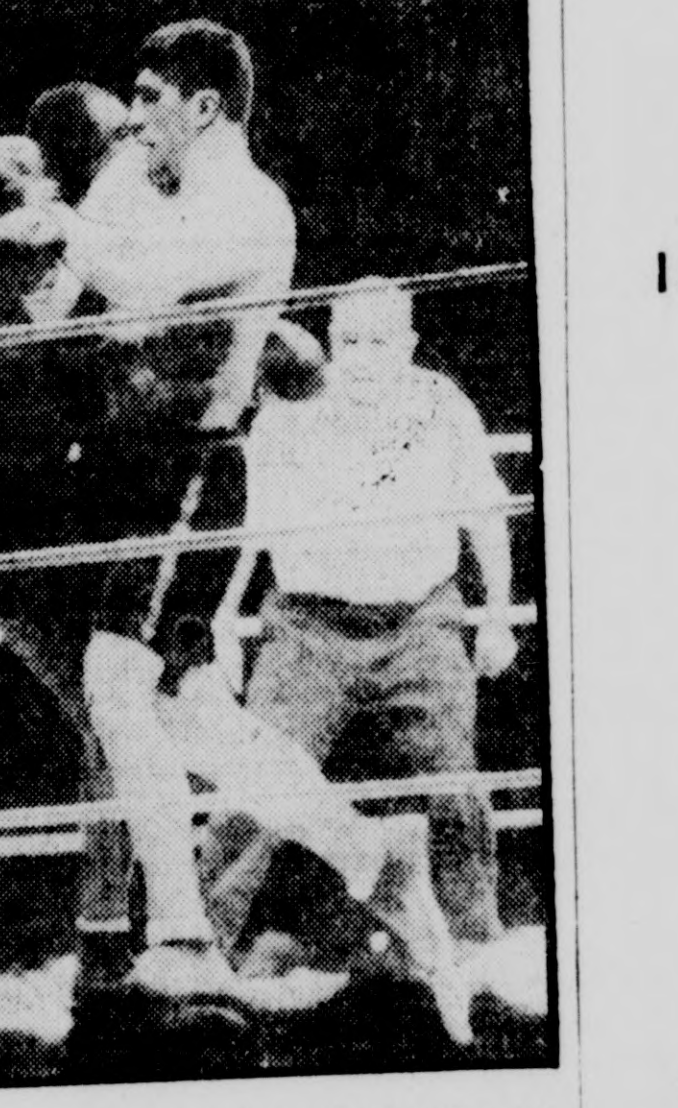

The other six round bout has not been arranged but it will probably be fought by two bantamweights of New Castle. One is managed by Arch Cumo and the other by Battling Terry.

Delegations from Younstown, Sharon, Butler, Greenville, Ambridge, Beaver Falls and East Liverpool have already asked for reservations and interest is growing daily.

AMERICANISM: A swell car in front of a cheap boarding house; contentment without a future if the job permits a white collar.

The new tariff is much like your first home-made ship model. It isn't worth keeping, but you hate to throw away that much work.

CARNERA BEATS GODFREY ON FOUL

Here is a bit of action in the fifth round of the Godfrey-Carnera fight at Philadelphia, Pa., just before Godfrey struck the foul blow which gave the giant Italian the decision. The negro's foul blow was a vicious left hook six inches below the belt.

Former New Castle High School Football Star Expects To Enter Pitt

Benny "Red" Ciccone, one of the best centers ever developed at the New Castle High school, who graduated in June, is planning to enter Pitt University.

During the summer vacation Ciccone is employed on a truck. During his high school football career for the local high school he proved a tower of strength and built up an enviable record. Many of his followers wish him success.

Slattery Loses His Title To Rosenbloom

Maxie Rosenbloom Takes Light-Heavy weight Crown By Winning From Slattery

New York Boy Beats Buffalo Mauler In Fifteen Rounds
—Referee Almost Knocked Out

By HYPE IGOE
International News Service Sports Writer

Buffalo, N. Y., June 26.—Maxie Rosenbloom held the world's light heavyweight title today, winning the crown last night when he outpointed Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo in fifteen rounds of pretty boxing.

It was a beautiful duel of wits, feinting, blocking, jabbing and countering and it was close, so close, Patsy Haley voted to make Slattery the new champion while George Kelley and George Patrick, the judges cast their votes for the New York boy.

Jabbing Duel

My own tab had them going into the final round with six rounds for each, two even. I had them fighting in the final period for the crown and I thought Jimmy had won when the round ended.

Slattery, who had won the title defeating Lou Sozza has twice failed in battles for the world's crown at the weight.

It was strictly a jabbing duel. Perhaps no two men, fighting for a world's title ever used lefts with more frequency. As it turned out, Maxie had a wild one to spare. In the final round, in a mad mixup, Rosenbloom hooked a left for Jimmy's ribs and missed shamst, but the blow, going into space, caught old Patsy Haley, the referee, right in the pit of the stomach. The blow hung Patsy over the middle rope, momentarily. The wind was knocked completely out of him but the brave little arbitrator, bending double, waded the men on. It was one of the strangest mishaps I ever saw in a title bout.

Slattery boxed superbly. His blows seemed to lack much of his old steam but he was accurate and he took the best wallops that Rosenbloom could shoot over and kept coming. In the rounds that Jimmy lost, he wasn't punished, he simply was "keeping away for that rush that came, perhaps one round too late.

The attendance, which fell off somewhat from expectations, was placed at 14,000. The gate went to $55,000.

Boston Agog As Berger, Braves' Coast Rookie, Leads Loop In Homers

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, June 26.—An apple-cheeked 24-year-old hurky traveling under the eloquent title of Biff Berger, is creating no mild stir in the historical city of Boston by openly threatening to bring to the bean and cod metropolis its first league home run championship since 1919.
Most towns, including such minute centers of population as East Bicycle, Pa., and North Belch, Neb., have become more or less bored with home run championships. But you don't know Boston. They have absolutely nothing else in baseball to become excited about.

To the true Bostonian a pennant is simply a bit of chicken, bunting the waves while the home town football men are licking or getting licked by moleskin-clad persons from Yale.
None Since the Babe
The last time true Bostonians looked upon the production of many home runs with considerable pleasure was when a spindle-legged, broad-shouldered guy by the name of Babe Ruth was socking his way to a job with the New York Yankees. That was away back in 1919 when Ruth was an employee of the not-yet-dispersed Boston Red Sox.

UNIVERSAL TEAM WINS AS SHIEK STARS ON MOUND

Super-Pitching Dazzles Scarazzo
Boys Who Sacrifice By
10-0 Score

One hundred and fifty spectators at the Universal Sanitary ball grounds Wednesday evening saw Willie Shiek hurl a no hit, no run game for the Universal Sanitary Manufacturing company boys when they opposed the Scarazzo company's aggregation. The Universals took an easy victory, 10 to 0.

Out of the first nine men up for the Scarazzo team, eight were strikeouts for the pottery company's twirler. The game came to sudden stop in the fifth inning when Clem General, catcher for the Universals, got a hot one off the bat, stoving his finger considerably. Hospital treatment was necessitated.

If Washington couldn't tell a lie, who wrote the official congratulations when some royal hellion had a birthday?

strong odor of frying cod and baking beans or something disturbed the Rajah to no end and he produced few home runs, at least not nearly enough to be in the running for the title.

Biff Thrills 'Em
So when Biff (Walter A. to the home folks) Berger began crashing sundry spheres against and over the outfield fences Boston set up and took notice. The fans have even begun to cheer, which is a unprecedented event for June since Boston baseball fans heretofore have been heard to cheer only on the last day of the diamond season and then only because they were thinking of the football season beginning on the morrow.

Berger, who woke up one rainy morning last spring to find to his dismay that he was in the Braves training camp, is a first-year man, hailing from the Pacific coast in general and Los Angeles in particular. As an Angel during the 1929 campaign, Walter or Biff hammered out 40 of those tall socks, an item which certainly was not overlooked by the Boston management when he was purchased.

Whether or not Walter, or Biff, will continue to thrill the hopeful denizens of the Boston bleachers rests on the knees of the gods and on his ability to stay in front of two other sluggers: Hack Wilson, the terror of the Chicago, and Chuck Klein, the clouting Philly. Anyway, Walter, or Biff, is leading the pack right now or he was just before this afternoon's baseball extras came out.

Some Said It Was Luck—but

Not a great many years ago an unknown boy from the celebrated open spaces of the West came to New York via airplane.

A couple of days later this same youth dropped out of the skies and gave the citizens of the witching city of Paris, France, the thrill of their young lives.

Many people on both sides of the Atlantic spoke about him in this wise: "Wasn't that boy lucky!" And newspapers everywhere conferred on him the doubtful title of "Lucky"

All that's necessary to say to that is "Applesauce." Better than any other person alive the boy knew how to fly an airplane.

TODAY Everybody says: "You'll have Good Luck with 'STANDARD'"

There's something in back of the luck that people have with "Standard"—just as there were thousands of miles of flying and years of study behind that boy who landed in Paris on schedule!

To motorists "good luck" means briefly: a car that zips off from a standing start like a newly-clipped colt—a car that runs smoothly and tirelessly all day, no matter where you drive . . . and a car that doesn't give you one trouble after another with repair bills mounting sky-high . . . The reasons for good luck with "Standard" are found in 60 years of experience in refining the best motor fuels and motor oil—and in the rigid laboratory tests that make certain the high quality of "Standard" products. People have "good luck" with "Standard." But it's planned good luck. You are certain to get it at all "Standard" stations with all "Standard" products.

Tonight at the Tin Mill field the Firemen will play a double-header mushball hit, first with The News Slugs at six o'clock, and then with the Haney team. The tire-eaters are anxious to win a set of games tonight.

Gas Tax Costs

Each Motorist $20

NEWARK, N. J., June 26.—Gasoline taxes will cost the average motorist $20 this year, the Lamp, official publication of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, declares. The Lamp says that "including estimated levies of $550,000,000 for 1930 motorists will have paid $1,750,000,000 in gasoline taxes for the last five years. In 1929 registration fees averaged approximately $13 a car—gasoline taxes nearly $18."

If you are thinking of buying a car at all, and for any reason price consideration makes a new Buick out of the question, by all means look over our stock of used cars before you buy any car.

The steadiness, comfort, riding ease and driving ease of a long wheelbase car—a good used car—will give you more satisfaction than a new car in the low priced class. Power, sturdiness, appearance are qualities you will appreciate.

If it is a used Buick, the roominess, the deep seats, the special spring suspension will introduce you to a new luxury in motoring. And it will last you longer, carry you thousands of miles farther.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Good Influx Of Buying Orders Feature Market

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 26.—Stocks, cotton and grain started the new session at higher price levels, and Wall Street was in a more cheerful frame of mind this morning as brokers in advance of the opening of the stock market reported a good influx of buying orders. Some nervousness was exhibited over the results of two important dividend meetings, those of Anaconda Copper and Industrial Alcohol, but lower cash dividends have been clearly foreshadowed by the action of the stock market.

Trading in the stock market in the first half-hour was comparatively small, only 324,000 shares changing hands. Eastman Kodak and Auburn Auto sold about 7 points higher, while American Tel and Tel moved up 3 points and numerous active industrials recovered a point or two. The market wobbled at the end of the first hour, and then resumed its moderate rally, under the lead of the blue-chips.

U. S. Steel was a pivotal point in the early trading, opening fractionally higher at 156, declining to 164, and rallying sharply to 156 1/4. It was the general opinion that powerful bullish interests would not permit this market bellwether to break under 150. The market leaders moved within a narrow price range, mostly upward, in the second hour.

Cotton rallied about 60 cent a bale; wheat rose fractionally in the early trading and call money was unchanged at 2 per cent.

Drama? Or Philosophy? Good Material At Local Library

And if you would like to have some real drama—just go to the corner of East North street and Jefferson street and step into the New Castle library building. From the shelves pick out such books as:

Ibsen, Henrik—Hedda Gabler and Master Builder.
Ibsen, Henrik—Peer Gynt.
Rostand, Edmond—Cyrano de Bergerac.
Shaw, George Bernard—Man and Superman.
Shaw, George Bernard—Saint Joan.
Or, if you prefer essays and philosophy, borrow the following:
Aurelius, Marcus—Meditations.
Bacon, Francis—Essays.
Brooks, Van Wyck—America's Coming-of-Age.
Crotches, Samuel McCord—The Gentle Reader.
Durant, Will—The Story of Philosophy.
Ellis, Havelock—The Dance of Life.
Emerson, Ralph Waldo—Essays.
Emerson, Ralph Waldo—The Heart of Emerson's Journals.
Frazer, J. G.—Golden Bough.
Holmes, Oliver Wendell—The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table.
Irving, Washington—The Sketch Book.
Lamb, Charles—Essays of Elia.
Lippman, Walter—A Preface to Morals.
Morely, Christopher—Pipefuls.
Plato—Republic.
Reppner, Agnes—Americans and Others.
Roosevelt, Theodore—Letters to His Children.
Royce, Josiah—The Philosophy of Loyalty.
Thoreau, Henry D.—Walden.
Thoreau, Henry D.—The Heart of Thoreau's Journals.
Van Dyke, Henry—Little Rivers.
Walden, Izaak—The Compleat Angler.

The above books are among those recently presented to the White House library by the American Book-sellers. They were chosen by a committee of men and were chosen not for reference but for enjoyment. People of New Castle are fortunate to have many of the chosen books on the shelves of the local free public library.

City Workers Gain In Yearly Earnings

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Ill., June 26—Average real earnings of city workers showed an increase of 5 per cent for the years 1927 and 1928 and the average urban worker could have purchased 30 per cent more with his year's work than in 1914, according to a survey just published by two University of Chicago research experts, Prof. Paul H. Douglas and Florence Tye Jenkinson.

However, the report points out the fact that unemployment during the period was sufficient to negate the increase in the real average earnings.

"It is important to state that a certain proportion of the increase in money earnings in an industry does not necessarily mean an increase in advantage to those employed," the study says. "With a continual downward trend in employment, it is legitimately assumed that the less skilled and lowest paid workers are laid off. An average figure representative of the industry will show an increase in money earnings and real earnings whereas in reality the earnings of those still employed may have remained constant."

Pays Lodge Brothers To Visit His Grave

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, June 26—There is little danger that the fellow lodge brothers of the late Louis A. Thiel will ever forget that he was once one of them. Thiel left a provision in his will that his lodge brothers would get $20 each if they spend an hour at his grave on the anniversary of his birth. Oh, yes, they all collected.

Cincinnati Police Buy Machine Guns

(International News Service)
CINCINNATI, O., June 26—The local police department has purchased two sub-machine guns, which will be used by specially trained men in subduing any possible gangster uprisings that may occur in the future.

Blessed are the poor. They don't kill a kid's appetite by forcing him to eat scientific rations he abominates.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

If some brother will kindly step down the aisle and toss in one more place to go tomorrow, the day will be about full. At the present writing, the high school alumni picnic in Cascade Park and the Muehlbach Benefit on Taggart Field, and there are six reasons why I should attend each.

Just what a Dairy Field Day is, has not yet been made any too clear. Better run up to see Phil Cox at Volant this afternoon and get the real up and up on the affair. If they mean that they are going to have races and hurdles for the cows, they can pack the customers in.

Imagine a big juicy Holstein hurling the javelin or throwing the hammer. Or a flock of Guernseys doing a mile relay. That doesn't seem to make sense so it must be something else. Anyhow Volant is going to have a "bully" time (ed. note, not so good) with its cattle field day and if you like Holsteins or Jerseys or Guernseys, take a run up this afternoon.

You will have time to get over to the Muehlbach game on Taggart Field, Friday night, and after seeing Hans Wagner bust the apple a few, you can keep going to the alumni picnic and dance at Cascade Park.

LINES TO "SHE".
Oh lady I would almost bet,
You do not like a cigarette.
You puff and bluff and bluff and puff.
And almost choke yourself and yet,
To me it merely proves that you
Remind me of a Marmoset.
If masculinity you crave,
Why don't you chew or cuss or shave,
Ah lady I would almost bet,
You do not like that cigarette.

There's a lad in town who doesn't talk much about himself, a quiet, refined sort of chap whose conversation doesn't run much to high adventure but he's had it, plenty.

A graduate of Annapolis, he served as a naval officer during the war. The North Atlantic with its iceberg menace, the North Sea with its mine-infested perils, sub-dodging, torpedo boat destroyers, and a salt spume leathery your face as you stood on the bridge. He knows all of it, but he never talks much about it. A business man now, but back in the library of memory he has some stories that sound like sea fiction.

And another lad who is in the drab business of selling merchandise was one of the Klondikers back in '99. He knows what is to get grubstaked, to mush over the trail, and to throw down on a Kadiak bear. And while this is only guess work I rather imagine he can tell you who was present the night "a bunch of the boys were whooping" it up in a Malamute saloon.

You have the world at your back door, through the experiences of folks who have been places. Just now I can think of people in New Castle who know Alaska, Australia, Asia, and the Malay Straits. The Khyber Pass has known their tread, and the Midnight Sun has risen for them. They're scattered around and you needn't spend a lot of money hearing of the strange places of the world.

Ban Art Exhibit In Municipal Park

CARMEL, Cal., June 26—Although artists form a large portion of Carmel's population they cannot use the city park to exhibit their paintings. This was the ruling of the City Attorney, rejecting an application of the Carmel Art Association to put up a temporary building in the park for an exhibition because it would be a "commercial venture."

Duck Shaped Egg Found On Ranch

WOODLAND, Cal., June 26—The town of Zamora noted for its nature freaks, has contributed another. It was an egg shaped like a duck, found on the Bernard Horgan ranch.

Various Speakers Heard At Conference

Many Local And Visiting Ministers Taking Part In Slippery Rock Conference

Interest in the Western Pennsylvania Bible Conference, in session this week at the First Presbyterian church of Slippery Rock, continues to increase. The promoters of the conference are much gratified to observe the deep interest which this community is manifesting in the study of the Holy Scriptures. Wednesday morning William Graham, in his own inimitable way, gave the third and last of three devotional studies which have proved a great blessing to all who have heard them. At 2:30 Rev. Ward Lusk, founder of the conference, gave a very timely and thought-provoking message on "The Lost Art of Meditation." He was followed at 3:30 by Rev. F. A. Childs of Bethesda, O., who gave a very clear Scriptural presentation of "The Jew in the Plan of God." The day was brought to a fitting climax at the evening service when the pastor of the entertaining church, Rev. H. Cameron McClure, gave a very lucid and helpful exposition on "The Temptation in the Wilderness."

This evening the conference will have the first opportunity of hearing the distinguished Bible teacher, Rev. Lee W. Ames, D. D., of the extension department of the Moody Bible Institute, who will speak upon that subject of universal interest, "Shall We Know Each Other in Heaven?" The program for Friday is as follows:

10 a. m., "Stewards of the Mysteries of God", by Rev. A. L. Warren; 2:30 p. m., "Four Portraits of Christ", by Rev. H. H. Van Cleave; 3:30, "From Jerusalem to Jericho", by Dr. Lee Ames; 7:30, "The Mistakes of Moses", by Dr. Ames.
Saturday's program is as follows: 10 a. m., "Solving the Problem of Sin", by Rev. Fred C. Patterson; 2:30 p. m., "A Marvelous Mirror", by G. M. Landis; 3:30, "The Underworld and the Place of the Dead", by Rev. C. C. Mohney; 7:30 p. m., "Why the Devil Hates Deuteronomy". The conference will close on Sunday with three addresses, at 2:30 p. m. G. M. Landis will give an exposition on Ephesians 2:1-10, under the subject "Grace—Grace—Glory". At 3:30 Dr. Ames will speak on "The Advent of the Son of God—Just as the Clock Struck". The final message of the conference will be given by the president, Rev. Bert E. Williams, who will speak on the subject, "Contending for the Faith Once Delivered."

Elizabeth Ryan Wins At Tennis

American Veteran Of International Fame Wins Way To Fourth Round Of Tourney

By F. A. WRAY
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 26—Miss Elizabeth Ryan, American veteran of many international tournaments, advanced into the fourth round of the women's singles of the Wimbledon tennis championships today by defeating Mme. Jeanne Sigart, Belgian champion, 6-3 6-4.
The Belgian player who had topped pled over powerful opposition to reach the third round, found herself helpless at the hands of the inspired American. Both sets went to three—all as Mme. Sigart fought vainly against Miss Ryan's superior game, but the American players' baffling chop strokes were too severe for her opponent.
